FIREWORKS SEEN AS POSSIBILITY IN LA. SESSION

Budget Addition, Leblanc Issue Are Considered Explosive

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE PARLEY SLATED TODAY

BATON ROUGE, La., March 4.—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long today invited legislators to consider more than $8,000,000 in additions to the record-breaking state budget.

Some of the appropriation proposals, and a possible effort to remove Sen. Dudley Leblanc of Abbeville as president pro-tempore of the state senate, are expected to provide any fireworks that may develope at the brief session beginning at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

The Governor signed the special session call today at the executive mansion, where he is still confined to bed, convalescing from the heart attack which caused postponement of the session a month ago.

Appropriations listed in the call would raise the state budget for the present fiscal year to more than $305,000,000. The budget already is the highest in history so far as recurring expenses are concerned. Last year's was higher but it included the onetime $60,000,000 expenditure, financed by a bond issue, for a veterans bonus.

The governor's call, which under the law limits matters which the legislature may consider, listed these appropriations among the purposes of the session:

$5,000,000 for work on roads not included in the federal primary system — that is for rural, farm to market and similar roads.

CITY LIMITS IN MONROE WIDENED

Selman Field, Booker T. Washington Addition Now Included

The corporate limits of the city of Monroe were extended as of 12 o'clock mid-night Friday to include the Booker T. Washington Addition and Selman Field.

The long awaited official announcement of the incorporation of both areas came Saturday.

Formerly the two areas had been under the jurisdiction of the Ouachita sheriff's department. As a token of the respect for the current jurisdiction of the Monroe police department, Sheriff Bailey Grant presented Chief of Police H. T. Ward with a "key to Booker T., with compliments."

The newly annexed areas will extend considerably the patroling territory of the police department. The impoication in the presentation of the large wooden key to the chief was that "it is now the city's baby."

U. S., Russia Nearing Shooting War—Donovan

NEW YORK, March 4.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, wartime chief of the office of strategic services (O. S. S.), delcared today America and Russia are "coming nearer and nearer to a shooting war."

America is losing the cold war to Russia, Donovan told a secondary schools forum at Columbia University.

"I am not one of those who believe in the inevitability of war," Donovan declared, but "we are coming nearer and nearer to a shooting war."

Major Strike Threats Loom In 4 Industries

With Coal Crisis Apparently Over, Other Industries Hold Threat For Near Future; Others To Shoot For Lewis' Goal

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(AP)—Even with the coal crisis apparently over, the nation faces a gloomy labor picture—disputes covering almost 5,000,000 workers could explode into big strikes.

Major strike threats loom in the auto, railroad, maritime and telephone industries.

But there are tough labor relations disputes shaping up in many other industries, large and small.

The surprise deal worked out by John L. Lewis in coal, giving miners gains worth about $1.40 a day per man, is a goal many labor leaders will be shooting for in the year ahead.

Unions have changed their tactics somewhat. In recent years, when living costs were skyrocketing, they laid heavy stress on this factor as making wage increases imperative.

Now, when such costs have stabilized, they do not stress that argument so much. They say the unions are simply trying for "a bigger piece of the pie," meaning a larger share of the profits.

Management, strongly resisting, is taking a general stand against any new increase in labor costs. It says a firm stand must be taken lest the dizzy wage-price spiral of the immediate postwar years start up again.

Legal fights are complicating this stalemate. These mainly come from the new set of ground rules for collective bargaining written into the Taft-Hartley law two and a half years ago. Labor still won't accept the T-H law.

Underlying the labor unrest are complaints by some union members that congress has laid down on the job of improving the federal social security law. There have been demands that employers foot the bill for expensive pension and other social insurance plans to supplement social security. In some cases the employers have complied.

All these ingredients boiling together are brewing a potentially explosive concoction.

EX-KLAN LEADER UP FOR PAROLE

Indiana Governor Says Stephenson Has Paid Penalty

INDIANAPOLIS, March 4.—(AP)—C. D. Stephenson, power-wielding Ku Klux Klan leader of the corrupt 20's, was made eligible today for immediate parole from a life sentence for murder.

Governor Schricker commuted Stephenson's sentence to the 25 years he has served in the Indiana state prison, saying:

"My own feeling is that Stephenson has paid the penalty."

The phenomenal Klan organizer was sent to prison for the death of a 25-year-old statehouse employe, Miss Madge Oberholtzer. But in his 45 appeals to the courts since then, he claimed he was a political prisoner.

The governor's aciton leaves only a few official formalities before the pudgy 56-year-old prisoner is released, probably before the end of the month.

Alfred Dowd, warden of the Michigan city state prison, said the records in Stephenson's case should be ready for the next regular meeting of the prison trustees March 17.

Paul L. Myers, an Elkhart Republican lawyer who is president of the trustees, said there'll be no special board meeting to act on the parole application.

TECH SENIOR IS KILLED IN CRASH

Three Others Injured When Auto Smashes Into Bridge

RUSTON, March 4. (Special)—B. H. McCormick, 24, of Crossett, Ark., was killed instantly shortly after midnight Friday and three others suffered minor injuries when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a bridge in Tremont bottom on Highway 80 west of Monroe.

The injured were Mrs. McCormick, and N. M. Griffith and Mrs. Griffith of Monticello, Ark. McCormick was a senior engineering student at Louisiana Tech. Griffith is enrolled at the college as a senior in the School of Agriculture and Forestry.

The injured were brought to the Ruston hospital. Mrs. McCormick was released Saturday morning and accompanied her husband's body to Crossett where funeral arrangements are indefinite.

The accident occurred at 12:20 a.m. as the automobile struck a bridge railing, swerved into the opposite railing, and skidded 225 feet, according to State Trooper M. E. Kidd, who investigated the wreck.

Time of the accident was placed at 12:20 a.m. by the time shown on McCormick's broken wrist watch.

The right side of the autmobile, a 1950 Chevrolet, was ripped open, according to Kidd.

$17,374 Almost Went Up In Smoke

MERION, Pa., March 4.—(AP)—Fourteen-year-old Jerold Panati picked up a slip of paper on the front lawn of his home yesterday intending to burn it with some trash.

The paper turned out to be a government check for $17,374 made out to a neighbor, W. A. Ritner.

Ritner couldn't understand how the check got on the Panati lawn. He said he had been expecting a refund for overpayment of 1947 income taxes.

BILL LAUNCHING RED CRACKDOWN STARTS JOURNEY

Judiciary Committee Approves Mundt's Bill Nine To One

WOULD REQUIRE LISTING OF AMERICAN COMMUNISTS

WASHINGTON, March 4. — (AP) — Legislation cracking down on Communists and Communist front organizations in this country won approval today of the senate judiciary committee.

By an 9 to 1 vote the committee adopted a bill introduced by Senator Mundt (R.-S. D.) which would:

1. Require the registration of 54,000 card-carrying American Communists and officers of Communist front organizations. They must report their aliases as well as their real names.

2. Call for the filing of financial reports disclosing sources of income of red organizations and where the money is spent.

3. Compel the Communist groups to label material sent through the mails as propaganda and require an announcement when Communist views were carried on the radio.

4. Deny Communists the right to work for the federal government and deprive them of U. S. passport privileges.

Stiff penalties are provided in the measure — $2,000 to $5,000 fine and two years in jail.

The Mundt bill defines Communism as a conspiracy to overthrow the government and set up a dictatorship in this country. On that basis it would outlaw such conspiracies.

Violation of this section would invoke maximum penalties of ten years in jail and $10,000 fine.

The Communists have claimed this definition would mean the outlawing of their party, but Mundt denies this. He said it merely "would apply the same government regulations which govern the political activities of Democrats and Republicans."

The south Dakotan asserted that the measure would not penalize anyone for belonging to the Communist party. But, he said, "it would be helpful if the people knew exactly who they were."

Mundt previously had reported that the legislation had the backing of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover as one way to "drive the Communists above ground."

Crippled Industries Shift Back Into Gear

ICC Withdraws Order To Further Curtail Nation's Coal Burning Railroad Operations; Idle Mines Prepare For Operation

PITTSBURGH, March 4. —(AP)— Crippled industries quickly shifted back into gear today without awaiting formal notice that the great coal strike is over.

It was enough that John L. Lewis and major coal operators finally had reached agreement after a 10-month struggle.

The costly strike that almost paralyzed the nation's economy idled nearly 600,000 persons. That includes the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers.

The interstate commerce commission started the industrial ball rolling by withdrawing its order for a new 15 per cent cut Sunday midnight on coal burning railroads.

The I.C.C. also delayed a previous 25 per cent reduction in freight service to permit prompt movement of cars to haul coal. Passenger runs using coal have been cut 30 per cent.

New York Central and Reading railroads immediately withdrew orders for curtailments.

The steel industry got ready to refire furnaces and rehire furloughed workers.

It is expected to make steel mills 10 days or two weeks to resume high production levels after the coal miners go back to work.

Coal operators are getting long idle pits ready for production.

Emergency coal shipments can be rolling out of the coal fields within 36 hours after production is resumed.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it plans to move all available coal cars to tipples as soon as the strike-ending contract becomes effective.

Only Legal Snarls Delay Coal Peace

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(AP)—Legal snarls tonight slowed the job of writing the soft coal peace agreement into a new contract to end the strike imperilling the nation's economy.

There were reports—followed by swift denials—that John L. Lewis had tossed substantial new demands on the bargaining table at the eleventh hour.

The reports came from operator sources. But the denials came from other operators and the United Mine Workers. One operator spokesman said "everything is running well." And he expressed optimism that the signatures would soon go on the dotted line.

An all day session of U.M.W. and operator representatives had recessed until 8 p.m. The aim is to get most of the soft coal operators back on the job Monday.

One of the hardest jobs facing the attorneys for both sides was to make the agreement fit a federal court injunction which specifically called some of its points illegal.

FARMER BATTLES ROBED FLOGGERS

Frees Negro Tenant From Lashing By Firing On Hooded Gang

EASTMAN, Ga., March 4. — (AP) A young well-to-do farmer poured rifle fire into a white-sheeted mob Thursday night and freed his Negro tenant from a lashing.

News of the gun battle came out of the South-Central Georgia farm section today when the Federal Bureau of Investigation was asked to investigate night-riding violence.

Editor Ed Methvin of the Eastman Times-Journal said this was the third whipping in four months of private citizens by mobs cloaked in the hoods and robes of the Ku Klux Klan.

Otho Wiggins, a farmer of the Mount Airy community, told the FBI that he turned the lights from his pick-up truck on a hooded gang after they already had lashed his Negro farm hand, Jessie Lee Goodman, and were threatening another beating.

Wiggins said he fired at the surprised mob with 16 quick shots from his .22 rifle. The robed rigures scattered in the waads in all directions, he said. A few returned his fire but Wiggins was not injured.

Wiggins went to the scene after a 16-year-old high school student, Harold Barrentine, saw the mob and warned the farmer.

Methvin said he had confirmed the story and called the FBI in Atlanta to let Wiggins tell the federal agents of the battle.

The editor quoted Goodman, the Negro, as saying he was seized at his home Thursday night while he was sleeping with his wife and children.

"They took me to some woods and whipped me," said Goodman. "They said I had stole some oil, but Mr. Wiggins gave me the oil. . . . I told them the truth but they said they were goin' to whip me again. About that time Mr. Otho commenced shooting."

Journalism Scholarship Created By Ewing Family

Creation of a permanent annual journalism scholarship at Louisiana State University with cash value of $750.00 to $800.00 each year was announced yesterday by John D. Ewing, editor and publisher of the Shreveport Times, on behalf of himself and other children of the late Colonel Robert Ewing of New Orleans.

The annual award will be provided throughout the future—ad infinitum—from a trust fund of more than $35,000 established by the four living sons and one daughter of Colonel Ewing. The full annual revenue may be awarded each year to one person or to more than one, as determined by an L.S.U. scholarship committee created through the trust.

The first award is expected to be made this spring and will be applicable to the college expenses of the winner for the coming school year of 1950-1951.

Colonel Ewing, at the time of his death in 1931, was owner of the New Orleans States, The Shreveport Times and the Monroe News-Star—World. His living children, who created the scholarship trust are—in addition to John D. Ewing—Mrs. Ester Ewing Brown of New Orleans, Wilson Ewing, editor and publisher of the Monroe News-Star—World, Robert Ewing, New Orleans attorney, and James L. Ewing of New Orleans. Another son, Toulmin, died several year ago.

The journalism award will be known as the Robert Ewing Annual L.S.U. Journalism Scholarship and will replace the present annual scholarships given for the past six years by the children of Colonel Ewing through an annual essay contest conducted by The Times. The contest was open to high school juniors and seniors scholastically in the upper fourth of their class, and winners were not limited to any particular course at the university.

The new scholarships will be open only to junior students of the school of Journalism at L.S.U. who have attended at least one year at the university, who have a scholastic record of "B" or better, and who are certified by the L.S.U. scholarship committee as of exceptional character and as of outstanding prospects for future success in the field of journalism. The purpose of the scholarships thus will be to provide a substantial sum each year for the outstanding L.S.U. prospect or prospects in journalism for future college study. Winner of an award one year will be eligible to win again in succeeding school years, or the awards may go to different students each year.

Administrative rules and regulations for award of the journalism scholarships have been drawn up in joint conferences over the past several months by representatives of the Ewing family and of L.S.U. and approved by each. Such modifications of the agreement between L.S.U. and The Times on the trust fund so as to meet with the new

Central La. Woos Tourists

COUSHATTA, La., March 4. —(AP) —The first of central Louisiana's series of highway bulletin boards advertising tourist attractions was unveiled here today before a crowd of more than 200 persons.

Braving cold weather, misty rain and threatening skies, the area's business leaders, public officials and private citizens also saw for the first time the new booklet, "Relax in Central Louisiana," another project of the Central Louisiana Association, which is sponsoring the sign board.

The bulletin board is located on U. S. Highway 71, about one mile north of Coushatta. "Entering Coushatta, historic central Louisiana," it proclaims to the approaching motorist. It gives the location of the nearest information center on hunting, fishing and historic sites.

C. E. Frampton of the state department of commerce and industry unveiled the board, the first of a series of eight planned by the Central Louisiana Association.

Other points of entry into the 14-parish central Louisiana area at which similar boards will be located are Bunkie, Okadale, Deridder, Leesville, Many, Winnfield and Jonesville.

Franmpton said that these projects are the first in the history of Louisiana in which an area itself took the initiative for development and publicity.

He commended the leaders for their far sightedness and planning in publicizing the resources of Central Louisiana throughout the nation.

"This is one of the finest, most lert and most progressive sections of the state and all of Louisiana will be benefitted by your program," he said.

He pledged the support of his department and, speaking for Governor Earl Long, for the entire state in further projects.

S. W. Nelken, president of the Association, in brief pointed out that this is a nation-wide program. "Relax in Central Louisiana" posters are to be placed in stations of all rail, bus and air lines serving the area.

Rogge To Make Peace Appeal Before Soviets

NEW YORK, March 4—(AP)—Former Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge left by plane today for Moscow where he said he expects to make a world peace appeal before the Soviet parliament.

"I hope to be able to appear before the parliament," he said, "and make proposals on the outlawing of atomic weapons and of all weapons of mass destruction, and on the necessity of a world disarmament program."

Joseph H. Ross

ESCAPES DEATH

Faces Life Imprisonment In Slaying Of Monroe Grocer

SENTENCING SCHEDULED TO BE ON MARCH 20TH

Joseph H. Ross yesterday morning was found guilty of the Sept. 29 murder of C. M. Kitchens, a Monroe grocer.

With a dazed expression, Ross, seated between his attorneys, stared blindly and unemotionally as the 12-man petit jury, returned their verdict of "murder without capital punishment" at 10:12 a.m. yesterday.

District Judge E. L. Gladney set the date of sentencing for March 20. The verdict returned however requires compulsory life imprisonment.

The first Ross murder trial last November was declared a mistrial by Judge Gladney when the jury failed to agree unanimously on a verdict.

The jurors retired from the courtroom at 10:30 p.m. Friday after District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr. and Defense Attorneys James Madison, of Bastrop, and Henry Montgomery, of Monroe had argued the case for nearly three hours. Fudickar asked for the maximum "death penalty" for the murder of Kitchens. The defense pleaded for acquittal.

While the defense attorney's argued before the twelve jurors late Friday night in a courtroom packed with spectators, the defendant, seated beside his three daughters and young son, wept spontaneously. His oldest daughter, blond - haired Virginia Ross Parker, 21, cupped her father's hand in hers to comfort him.

Throughout the trial, which began Monday with the selection of a jury, the district attorney sought to prove that the defendant shot Kitchens because of jealousy and suspicions aimed at an alleged affair between the grocer and his wife.

The defense claimed that Kitchens pulled a revolver first and that Ross shot the grocer in self defense.

The verdict yesterday morning was delivered for reading by Jury

ROTC AT N. J. C. IS RATED SUPERIOR

High Recognition Awarded From Fourth Army Headquarters

Confirmation of the "superior" rating awarded the R.O.T.C. unit of Northeast Junior College was received from Lt. Gen. Leroy Lutes, commanding general of the Fourth Army, Ft. Sam Houston, Texas. Maj. Hugh W. McClary, head of the military department at the local institution, was notified of the high award which was based on an informal inspection of cadets here by Brig. Gen. John Weckerling, chief of the Louisiana military district.

Giving his general opinion of the inspection, covering all phases of training, General Weckerling reported to General Lutes, "I was quite favorably impressed with the appearance, manner and general conduct of the entire cadet corps."

He declared, "The excellence of their classroom instruction, coupled with the progress in drill and field work, should make this an outstanding unit."

The official report stressed the enthusiasm which the visiting inspector showed in the opportunities given through the R.O.T.C. program for practical leadership. Each cadet has a chance to teach fellow cadets in classroom work, tactical problems and close order drill. In addition, these students are encouraged in full participation in other phases of campus activity.

General Weckerling also stated, "I was particularly impressed by the relationship between the faculty and the professor of military science and tactics." During the official inspection of the corps, the General declared, "The R.O.T.C. will succeed here because of its support by the faculty, staff and student body."

Congratulating the military department at N.J.C. on the splendid recognition given by General Lutes confirmation, Dean Rodney Cline emphasized his belief that the college is particularly fortunate to have the R.O.T.C. unit since "this is a privilege enjoyed by only a few junior colleges." He explained that the good fortune of Northeast Junior College in this respect is

Organized Search For Missing Plane Ended

EDMONTON, Alta., March 4. — (AP) — The organized search for a long-missing U. S. Air force C-54 and the 44 persons aboard has ended.

The Royal Canadian air force said today it will continue to check all possible clues to their fate. The big four-engine plane vanished in the Yukon Jan. 26 on an Alaska-Montana flight.

Scores of reports of distress messages, smoke signals and explosions were investigated without result.

The latest fruitless one was a report of smoke signals near Waldo in southeastern British Columbia.

City School Board Hears Plans For Added Facilities

The Monroe City School Board at the regular March meeting received a progress report from the committee which has since September, 1949, been engaged in making a study of the Monroe City Schools.

Dr. M. S. Robertson, Research Professor of Education and Associate director of the Bureau of Educational Research of Louisiana State University, who is Coordinator of the Study, presented the report for the consideration of the Board. The initial phases have been completed by the committee. On the basis of the information presented by Dr. Robertson, the Board prepared a program for repair, renovation, and extension of present facilities and tentatively agreed upon areas in which new buildings will be constructed, with the view of providing modern educational facilities for the public-school children residing in the city of Monroe. When the program is completed, the city of Monroe will have a school system adequate to mee tthe educational needs of the children of the city for a period of many years and second to non in comparable cities.

The contemplated program for schools for white children includes the erection of a modern elementary school on the site presently owned by the Monroe City School Board in the Cotton Mill Addition north of the Winnsboro Road in the southeastern section of the city; the erection of a modern elementary school east of Park Avenue and northeast of Marie Place; the erection of a modern elementary school near the intersection of the Loop Road and the Sterlington Road; the repair, renovation and expansion of existing facilties at Barkdull Faulk School, Central Grammar School, Georgia Tucker School, Lida Benton School, Sherrouse School, and Neville High School; and the erection of a modern gymnasium, adequate to meet the needs of the pupils enrolled at Neville Junior and Senior High School.

The program for Negro children includes a new, modern elementary school in the vicinity of the present Newtown School on Texas Avenue; a new modern elementary school in the southeastern area of the city; complete renovation and expansion of school facilities presently located between Washington and Breard Streets; and erection of a modern, comprehensive elementary and high school centrally located in the colored-population area of the city.

As soon as the report can be completed and edited, it will be reproduced in attractive form for study and consideration by community groups who will be given every opportunity to contribute to the final draft of plans. The basic philosophy of the educational program is that modern, elementary faciliti should be in close proxi-

RIVER TO CREST AT BONNET CARRE

Rains In Past 36 Hours Haven't Affected Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, March. 4. — (AP) — All levees south of Gld river near Angola, La., remained under constant patrol today as the high water crest of the Mississippi river neared the Bonnet Carre spillway.

U.S. Engineers said the spillway, 20 miles above New Orleans, was operating efficiently enough to handle the crest which is somewhere between it and Red river landing (Old river).

The weather bureau said rains of the past 36 hours have not affected the river stages and had no lasting effect on the east Louisiana flooded area.

Locally, the rains sent ditch and bayou water rolling two inches deep over Highway 11 between the southwest end of Pontchartrain bridge and Irish Bayou, the highway patrol said the road was not closed but travel should proceed with caution. It is not expected to deepen, the office said.

Stephen Lichtblau, chief weather forecaster, said only hard rains in the upper reaches of the Mississippi could prevent a general fall of stages in the next ten days.

Amateur Show Packs Neville Auditorium

Ted Mack and his Original Amateur Hour, sponsored over ABC weekly by Old Gold cigarettes, last night packed the Neville High School auditorium.

In addition to a number of local amateurs, ten "graduate" amateurs were flown in from New York to participate in the program. They were reported to have gotten their "start" on a similar program.

Thirty other contestants were brought in from New Orleans late this afternoon.

The program, slated to get underway at 8 p.m., was delayed a half hour because of the late arriving contestants from New Orleans.

Mack's Original Amateur Hour, broadcast every week over KMLB, was brought here through the efforts of Claude Harrison and Joe D. Trammell, chairman of the Twin Cities' current heart fund drive.

Among the local contestants was Camille Hancock, a girl trio from Ouachita Parish High School, James Sisco and Joyce Danna, and from Clayton, La., Jerry Lewis, a pianist.

Proceeds of the show will benefit the heart association.

PRESENTED BY CIVIC MUSIC

Civic Music Will Feature Talented Piano Ensemble

The Four Piano Ensemble, an expert combination of talents, individually supurb artists, will be presented by the Monroe Civic Music Association at the Northeast Junior College auditorium, at 8:15 p.m., on Saturday evening March 11.

This marks the final concert in this seasons outstanding line up of musical talent brought to the twin-cities by the Civic Music Association. The quartet, comprising Stephen Kovacs, Audrey Kooper, Hans Heidemann and Sylvia Dickler, will perform special arrangements of varied music from Handel and Mozart to Weber and Wagner.

The piano ensemble's youthful gusto and brilliance infects their audience. They are expertly orchestrated into a perfect musical blend in special arrangements of varied music from Bach and Scarlatti to Brahm and Rossini. They slip from one mood to another deftly, dramatically, in a mannner intriguing and at once musicianly.

Four Steinway grands follow the quartet on tour. They are transported from city to city via a heated truck. Within a half-hour after a concert, the two truckers have dismantled the pianos, loaded them and are on their way to the next town where they must be reassembled and tuned. Each of the four always plays the same piano. "You become familiar with your instrument, just as a violinist or cellist does," Arranger Kovacs explained. "You know how much you can coax out of it. Bext results are insured by not switching pianos."

"Our Aim," Kovacs said, "is just the same as one piano, two pianos, or a string quartet. It is to give good music and let people have a fine time. I like to smile and in the second half of our program we provide some humorous works to let the audience smile, too."

The Monroe Civic Music Association, in choosing this unusual group for their last concert of the season, have made no mistake to the music lovers of Monroe and West Monroe. The ensemble began rehearsals in the winter of 1940. The following year they played just twelve concerts. Last year their tour expanded to more than seventy-five and this season's will be even larger.

Afghanistan became a political entity in 1747, previously having been a cluster of small states under various rules.

mity to the homes of the children in kindergartens and in grades 1 through 6, thereby affording opportunities for local community activities in all sections of the city and avoiding the necessity of making the younger children leave their immediate neighborhoods for elementary school training. In providing facilities for pupils of grades 7 through 12, the board is following the national trend of providing maximum educational opportunities and facilities on a well-chosen site, removed from noise, dangerous traffic and other dismracting influences. This plan makes it possible to hold the total cost within reasonable limits while providing maximum benefits for the children, a point concerning Neville High School which was commended very highly by the Evaluative Committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on February 9, 1950.

;The completed report will include a historical statement of the jevelopment of Monroe City schools, information concerning vupil population such as residence, educational status, training and experience and professional and community activities of teachers, and factors relating the ability of the city to provide and maintain an mdaquate educational program. The final determination of facilities in each local community will be made in co-operation with the citizenship of communities concerned. As a final check and validation of the program, the Monroe City School Board has engaged a member of the staff of the United States Office of Education, assigned to the School Housing section of the office, to come to Monroe for a complete check of the program. Architectural plans and specifications will be presented to the State Departments of Health and Education and to the State Fire Marshal for compliance with State and National educational, health and safety requirements.

CANTON HIT HARD BY AIR RAIDERS

Heavy Damage, High Casualties Result In Southern China City

HONG KONG, March 4. — (AP) — Heavy damage and high casualties were reported today in a series of Chinese Nationalist air raids on the southern metropolis of Canton.

The raiders, totalling only about a dozen but coming over all day Friday, hit three railway stations and other targets. A bout 50 150-pound bombs were dropped.

The Hong Kong Standard estimated deaths at 700, while the Hong Kong New Life Evening Post placed total casualties above 1,000, with 100 known dead.

The Communists' poor warning system was blamed for the high casualties. Once sounded, the alert stayed on past midnight.

All reports indicated the raids caused both destruction and panic.

Passengers on the first train to reach the Hong Kong colony border after the attacks said all roads out of Canton were crowded with people fleeing the city. The train's 16 cars included six loaded with Communist soldiers, apparently being evacuated from Canton. The train arrived just in time for another Nationalist attack on the border village of Shumchun, frequent target of the Nationalists.

British spitfires patrolled over Hong Kong while four Nationalist Mustang fighters destroyed oil and chemical stores on the Commuist side of the line. Six other Nationalist planes failed in a new attempt to destroy the Skeklung rail bridge midway between Hong Kong and Canton.

Monroe Garden Club Wins National Award

LAFAYETTE, La., March 4.— (AP) — Two national purple-ribbon awards for outstanding flower shows were presented here tonight to the Welcome Garden Club of Monroe and the Maplewood Garden Club of Maplewood at the annual banquet of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation.

She is a member of the Welcome Garden Club.

The Gardenettes of Ponchatoula won the state prize for the best garden club yearbook. Mrs. A. L. Ladner is president of the group.

Winners in the publicity scrapbook division are from several sections of the state. Baton Rouge Garden Club won first place in the clubs with membership of 50 or over.

New Orleans Garden Society won second place in that category and New Iberia Garden Club, third place.

Russian Roulette Is Fatal To Boy, 15

The victim was Robert William Stevens.

A friend, Junior Lee Doolen, also 15, said the two youths were examining a .38 caliber revolver, purchased recently by the Stevens boy. Doolen said Stevens extracted the cartridges from the weapon then replaced one, spun the cylinder, placed the gun to his head and pulled the trigger.

Another Chance—Make The Most Of It

Next Wednesday the Civil Aeronautics Board will hold another hearing of vital interest to Monroe and this entire area. Continental Trailways is applying for permission to fly so-called feeder lines to various points in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, and approval of the application will mean north-south flights out of Monroe—something we have fought desperately but futilly for during the past ten years.

If CAB approves Continental's application, Monroe will get air service to Memphis, to New Orleans and to Lake Charles, as well as other intermediate points in the state. Excellent connections to the north may be made at Memphis. The advantage of direct flights to New Orleans and to Lake Charles have been apparent but sorely lacking for years.

The CAB has been giving us the run-around for several years. But this time the prospects appear much better, because approval of the application has been recommended by the examiner who surveyed the proposed routes. This section of the state will be represented at the hearing Wednesday by Herbert Bailey, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. However, Mr. Bailey will need strong support in presenting our case.

We strongly urge that Congressman Passman and Senators Long and Ellender be bombarded with telegrams DEMANDING that they back this proposed forward step for their state with all the persuasion in their power. We asked their assistance in the recent Mid-Continent hearing on a Kansas City-New Orleans route via Monroe and both Congressman Passman and Senator Long wrote that they would press approval of the application then. We have no reason to doubt that they did not, but the fact remains that the Mid-Continent petition was not approved. We are confident that a large number of telegrams from their constituents will spur our congressman and senators to greater efforts.

Delta Air Lines recently published a quarter-page advertisement citing the number of passengers carried out of Monroe during the past year and complimenting the people of this section upon their "air-mindedness." Certainly if the east-west traffic was so heavy and so profitable, a north-south route would prove even more so.

Let's not miss this time. An emphatic expression from citizens in this area will help immeasurably in convincing the powers-that-be that we're tired of being brushed off in Washington.

Help The Red Cross

The American Red Cross is conducting its annual campaign for funds, and the appeal should have a most significant meaning to all of us in this flood-ridden area. Right at home here, we have seen what has been done in evacuating and rehabilitating families in the Bawcomville. The work in the Ferriday area has been more extensive. In short, the Red Cross has poured many more dollars into northeast Louisiana than we have given in return.

The Red Cross this year reminds us that "All May Help" in the organization's wide-spread humanitarian work. That slogan is the theme of the 1950 fund campaign. It has a personal meaning to every American.

Each day thousands of those who want to help and thousands of those who need help are brought together through the Red Cross for the most heart-warming "swap" in mankind's history. It is a very personal exchange, this barter of the impulse to aid for the pain, the suffering, the worry, the life of a fellow man in distress. And it is a swap with wide appeal. Last year 1,450,000 Red Cross volunteers proved that with tens of millions of hours of service.

We are lucky in America that the balance between those in need and those ready to meet that need is so favorable. We are a generous people. Our hearts are warm, our hands ready to help. Let us make sure that the balance never shifts, that no cry for aid ever goes unheeded.

One sure way of guaranteeing that the work of mercy will never end is to support your Red Cross. Support it in every way that you can—with your time, your energy, your money. All are needed,and each one of us can contribute some part of the total.

That is what the Red Cross means when it says that "All May Help."

An Old Story

The case of the Ohio banker who has admitted embezzlement of a large sum of money is not startling because it reveals dishonesty as such in a position of trust. Bankers and others who handle large sums of money are strictly honest as a class, the Ohio case being the exception which proves the rule.

But it does arouse speculation as to why a person of such standing in his community would be led into a practice which he knew from the beginning was unlawful, and for which he was certain to pay a tremendous penalty.

The Ohio man was a leader in his community, taking a prominent part in civic and church affairs. Yet for 27 years he carried on as an embezzler, betraying his employer, his family and his fellow citizens. As cashier of the town's leading bank he attempted to keep up with those who moved in his class of society. He was called upon to contribute to all movements, causes and funds. His salary never was more than $3,000 a year.

The fact that he needed money is no justification for his crime, but his position will be understood by thousands of citizens who, in a vain attempt to keep up with the Joneses, sacrifice their integrity on the altar of society. It's an old story.

Sometimes it seems as if this country is being run by the grasshoppers at the expense of the ants and bees.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

War is still our most serious business. War costs us more than 70 per cent of our budget. War determines both our domestic and foreign policies.

In the conduct of foreign policy, our administration has improvised with juvenile optimism, losing every battle to the superior skill of our enemy. Yet, we cannot afford to imperil our physical defenses. We cannot risk being conquered.

Naturally, when a situation is so critical, differences of opinion develop as to the best way to handle the situation. Thus, the navy and the air force differed, and that led to wild public recriminations. The problem centers on two factors:

1. How much can this country afford to spend year after year on the national defense without wrecking the national economy;

2. After the maximum permissible amount is settled upon, how is the money to be allocated?

The responsibility for the conduct of the national defense rests upon Louis Johnson, secretary of defense; the responsibility for determining the amount to be spent rests upon the president and the congress.

The amount that can be spent on the national defense is limitless; the amount that will be spent is limited by the judgment of the president and the congress as to how much the national economy will permit. For the present budget, the amount is $13,000,000,000.

Secretary Johnson has emphasized economy and has won the dislike of the following elements in our population: Contractors who live by enormous expenditures; those officers of the various services who prefer high expenditures without increased effectiveness; the pro-Russian crowd who want so much spent that it will crack our national economy; the pro-British crowd who want us to maintain as much of the British empire as is left.

These groups take pot-shots at Secretary Johnson. Their latest falsehood, however, sounds true because of the previous quarrel between the navy and the air force. They try to give the impression that a violent quarrel has developed between Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington. The object of the story is to imply that Johnson can get along with no one.

I have thoroughly investigated this story and have confirmed that it is a lie.

The Alsop brothers, who rather fancy themselves great experts, have been calling Secretary of Defense Johnson a liar and have accused him of fooling the American people. The gist of their complaint is that while he is practicing economy, he is impairing the efficiency of the defense forces. Emphasis is placed upon the appearance of discrepancy in public statements made by Louis Johnson and Stuart Symington.

I have examined the public statements of both these officials and there are no actual discrepancies.

The gist of the thinking of both is identical:

Johnson says:

"...Our establishment of defense must be so strong—in the conception of the president and myself and the joint chiefs of staff it must be so strong that it will deter anyone who wants to start trouble in this world; and secondly, it must be so strong that if somebody does start trouble, there is no question about America being the victor in the final outcome of that discussion."

Symington says:

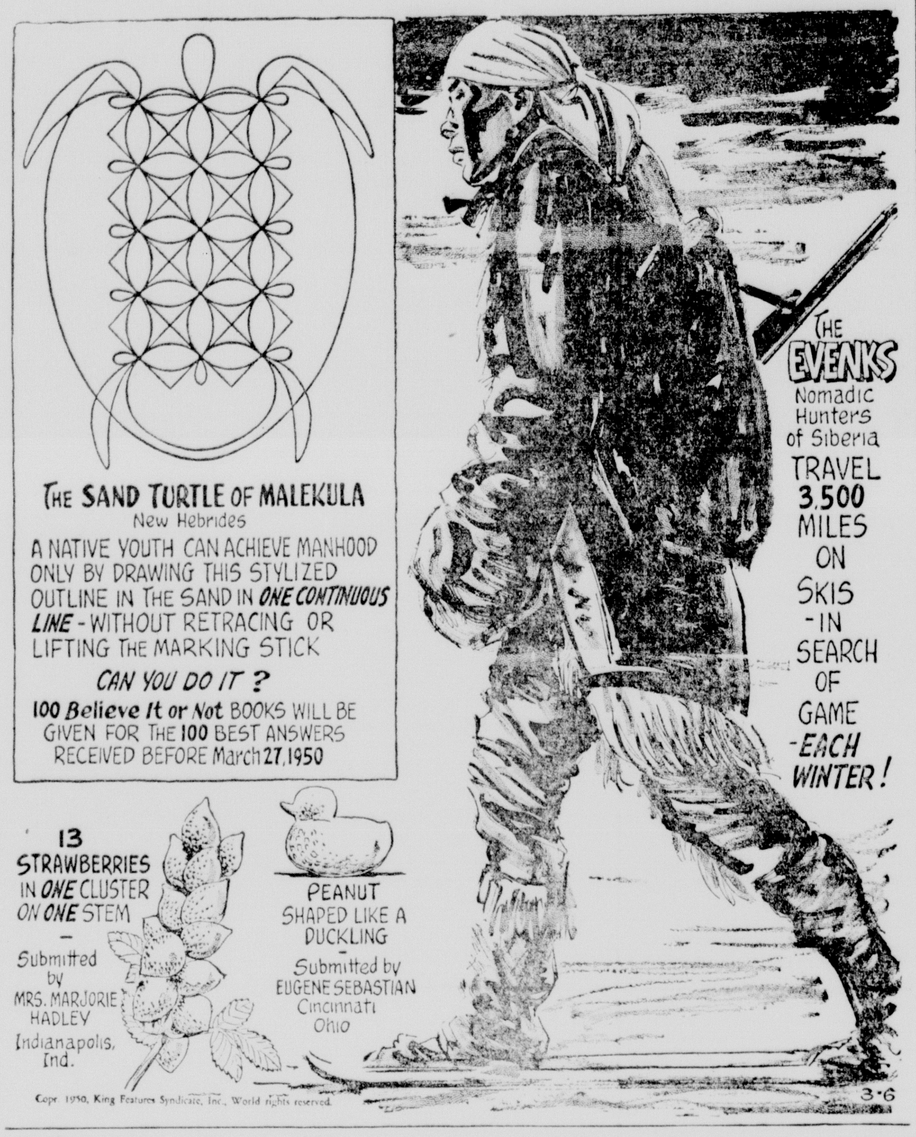

"America is reconciled to the necessity for a peacetime defense program greater than ever required in the past. We must remain steadfast and alert until that day — God hasten it — when we can have complete assurance that any power, or combination of powers, which threaten peace will abandon their aggressive schemes and participate effectively in the community of nations to advance, and not destroy, civilization.

But there is more than that. The president, Johnson and Symington and every other official associated with the national defense now have the problem of turning fat into muscle, of using economy to produce efficiency, of ending the cost of Mexican and civil wars installations so that the needs of 1950 can be met without wrecking our national economy.

In a word, money must be saved to be used to the best advantage. This is what the department of defense is trying to do. It is a difficult task under any circumstances; it is particularly hard when every plan to accomplish both economy and efficiency encounters unfair opposition.

BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Many stamp collectors were annoyed by the flood of special and commemorative stamp issues which came off the government presses during the Roosevelt administration. Collecting is a hobby, and they regarded the multiplicity of new issues as a violation of the unwritten rules of collection, since stamp values are determined by their rarity.

But no wcomes a new entry in international stamp collecting, as repulsive to philatelists as the vulgar comic valentine was to recipients of the old-fashioned lace trimmed sentimental variety.

Soviet Russia, which never overlooks a chance to villify the United States by any medium, has turned to stamps—stamps which would be as ludicrous as the comic valentine if it were not that they are part of the vicious "warmonger" propaganda directed against this country.

Instead of the ennobled heads of Soviet heroes, corresponding to those of U. S. presidents on our regular stamp issues, the USSR has put out a series of stamps directly attaching the U. S. Used for common postage in the Soviet Union, the stamps, which are of two values, show Uncle Sam, in his unmistakable costume, extending a flaming torch toward a terrestial globe, while a member of the Soviet working class extends a protecting arm across the top of the globe, fending off the torch with bare open palm.

The worker holds aloft a banner inscribed "For Peace" and "Against the Incendiaries of War." Behind him in the background is an army of workers carrying banners inscribed "For Peace" in English and oher languages.

The Soviet stamps are further evidence of their country's intention to continue the "cold war" for there is no precedent for such attack-by-postage on another nation in peacetime. European nations in the past have issued "patriotic" stamps in wartime bearing slogans aimed at their enemies, but few of them have ever gone so far in direct hostile propaganda as the new Russian "peace" issues.

People who don't like to fly—and there are thousands who don't like to but have to, for business or personal reasons—have a distinguished sympathizer and co-disliker in James A. Farley, former Postmaster General, now board chairman of Coca-Cola, who travels all over the world by air to save time.

Recently he wrote a friend, "Mrs. Farley and I have traveled 50,000 miles by air in recent months. It was a very pleasant trip. But I still don't like to fly."

That was confirmed by an airline hostess, who recalled a flight from New York to Chicago with Farley as a passenger. It was her first contact with the friendly democratic leader, who usually radiates charm all over the place.

"I didn't think it could be the man I had heard so much about," she said. "He was courteous but distant, and he hardly smiled the whole trip. I watched him and he didn't look out the window from the time the plane took off until it landed. He just sat there reading a book in his lap. But he didn't turn a page the whole trip. I guess he just doesn't like to fly".

As the Lenten season moves on, they are tearing down one of Washington's most historic churches, the 115 year old New York Avenue Presbyterian, where Abraham Lincoln and other notables have worshipped, to build a larger and more pretentious edifice, and capital residents, regardless of their faith, are unhappy to see it go.

The new church will be on the same site. Of recent years Washington has become a magnet for week end tourists, and hundreds of them included New York Avenue Presbyterian as a "must" on their itinerary. During the service, they probably think of the great political figures of the past who attended there while the 1800 regular members of the congregation are thinking of the great preachers who have occupied the pulpit, now vacant, in comparatively recent years.

One of these, Holland-born Reverend Joseph R. Sizoo, preached the funeral service of William Jennings Bryan as one of his first acts as pastor. When Dr. Sizoo went on to accept the pastorate of St. Nicholas Collegiate Church in New York, the congregation debated at length on his successor. Dr. Sizoo wanted his assistant named, but a Washington dowager who carried weight rose to comment witheringly:

"I realize that he has been a hard working young man. But, think, are we to have a pastor whose father was a carpenter."

At that point Dr. Sizoo rose with the perfect squalsh: "Madam, so was the father of Jesus Christ Our Lord".

The carpenter's son did not get the pulpit. It went instead to Scotch-born Reverent Peter Marshall, who had been in the United States only ten years, during which he had dug ditches in New Jersey and had been a laborer in an iron foundry.

Marshall became within a few years one of the most talked of preachers of the country, only to die a year ago at the age of 46.

Equal to his reputation as a preacher on the Sabbath were his opening prayers to the United States senate, of which he became chaplain in 1947. The sermons have been published in a book and are now being syndicated for Lenten publication.

Marshall, with typical Scotch part wit, was the type of minister who, in his opening prayer before the senate at a time when important legislation was being delayed by a fight over postmastership appointments, could say:

"Since we strain at gnats and swallow camels, give us a new standard of values and the ability to know a trifle when we see it". And in concluding his prayer on the day that foreign aid under ECA was up for debate: "Unless we stand for something we shall fall for anything".

When David Lilienthal's nomination for the chairmanship of the atomic energy commission was up, Dr. Marshall prayed:

"Teach us that liberty is not only to be loved, but also to be lived. Liberty is too precious a thing to be buried in books. It costs too much to be hoarded. Make us to see that liberty is not the right to do as we please, but the opportunity to please to do what is right".

It wasn't its great communicants alone which made "N. Y. Avenue Presbyterian" historic.

Hal Boyle's

Notebook

NEW YORK —(AP)—If I had to pick a hero-of-the-year this early in 1950, it would be Mr. Frederick W. Theilmann.

At 82 this retired Minneapolis undertaker has set a stalwart example for a faint-hearted age.

Lugging a movie camera and 1,200 feet of film, the energetic octogenarian has flown to Europe on a three-month trip by air around the world.

It is the first time he has ever left this country, but Theilmann isn't running away from atom bombs, bad times, the sheriff or anything or anybody else. He is going on an Indian summer voyage of adventure, and in a very humble spirit.

"I am making this trip in the hope that I may learn more than I already know, God willing," he said.

And, God also willing, he'll come back fresher in mind and younger in heart than millions of Americans one third his age.

It is a gallant thing to be curious and venturesome at 82. It proves anew, what all physicians know, that old age isn't a matter of the years of the bone so much as the depth of the moss on the soul.

What led Theilmann to make this epic pilgrimage I can't tell. Perhaps it was because in his work as an undertaker he made too many trips to the cemetery with people who ended up there early because they lost the zest for living.

In any case the fatigue of our times, the neurotic fear of the future that afflicts so many young and middle-aged people today, seems not to have touched him at all. In his long life he has survived three wars, numerous bitter depressions, known death in his family — and still he's an eager beaver. He wants to know more about life.

I don't think he's too unusual an old man for all that. It has been my experience that old people as a group face life with more courage, and retain a deeper, abiding interest in it, than younger people. After all, their courage and strength has carried them through the test of time—they are the ones who won their way through all troubles. The weaker sank.

And there is distinguished precedent for the exploration voyage of the late-season Ulysses from Minneapolis. Cato took up the study of Greek at 80, and our own Benjamin Franklin was still learning—and earning—when death took him.

I once knew a young university professor who sneered at one of his elderly students, a retired preacher who wanted a master's degree in order to start a new career as an English instructor.

"The man is just foolish and wasting his time and mine," the professor said.

A few years later the professor took a dry dive out a window and ended up dead. Life was too much for him. But the last I heard of the old minister he was happily teaching English.

Theilmann's example should stir many old people to take heart to go ahead and do the things they really want to do in the time they have left. And as a bon voyage message, I can't think of anything better than Tennyson's peom, quoting the philosophy of the original Ulysses in his later years:

"The deep moans round with many voices. Come, my friends, 'tis not too late to seek a newer world. It may be we shall touch the happy isles, and see the great Achilles, whom we knew."

DOWN SOUTH

THE SPIRIT OF MAN

The general election in Great Britain, which resulted in a virtual victory for the Conservatives in that the Socialists do not have a working majority and must submit to another election within the challenge. They endured through the "blood, sweat, and tears" of those days until the victory was theirs.

But the victories of peace are even more commendable in many ways than those of war. Those who fight without the emotion of great conflict to stir their souls deserve all the more credit for the inner convictions that sustain them in their fight.

And as a result of my eight weeks first-hand study of the situation in Great Britain last summer, I know something of the darkness of the outlook for those who were struggling to preserve the rights of the individual and private enterprise in that land. They told me how one industry after another had fallen to the schemes of the nationalizers. They told me how all industry was hounded and restricted and hedged about at every turn until it looked as if all incentive to work and save and invest and create had been killed, how they were forced to make their fight with financial support that was all too inadequate, how they had all the force of the gov. and all the force of numbers as represented by the masses of the people arrayed against them.

And there is no question in my mind but that the return to office of the Labor Party by a substantial majority would have meant the death knell to Great Britain as a nation that recognized the dignity and freedom of the individual, as a nation that recognized the gradual strangling of private enterprise in that nation until none would have been left. It would have meant a completely controlled economy and domination of the lives of the people by the state. It would have meant eventual ruin and stagnation and a low level of mediocrity for all the people. It would have meant a sordid ending to the history of a great nation.

As it is, the British now at least have a chance to regain a sound economy and a democratic government, a chance to reassert the courage and spirit that has been bequeathed to them by a thousand years and more of history. That is assuming, of course, that the next election may give the Conservatives a working majority. The damage that has been wrought by the Socialists during the last five years has been tremendous, and it will take great courage and hard work to overcome the results of this damage. But people who never quit in the face of great odds people who meet the challenge of those who promise ease and security and free benefits from the cradle to the grave and throw these promises back in their teeth, can be depended upon to continue to exhibit the qualities necessary for recovery.

There are two aspects to the British situation that we would do well to remember in this country. First, that we can take no credit for the defeat of socialism in Great Britain, if it is defeated, because we have subsidized socialism there for five years and without our aid, it is my opinion the Conservatives would have won overwhelmingly, perhaps would have been back in office long ago. Second, the fight the Conservatives are making in Great Britain should put to shame those in this country, and I have run across many of them in recent years, who say the trend is toward socialism and that there is nothing we can do about it. Let them look at those who had more reason to feel this way than anyone in this country ever had, and find in their example the spirit that makes man great.

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, March 4. —(AP)— Adele Jergens, who has made a handsome living as a sexy doll on the screen, says she feels "so refined" in her current role.

"I play a nice girl for the first time in years," the blonde remarked about her "Sugarfoot" part. "Actually I'm still a saloon entertainer, but underneath I'm nice.

"I dress conservatively in this one, too. I just have two dresses that even hint of sex, and they're just off the shoulder. I've got to depend on my eyes and shoulder for all the sex."

Her part in the Randolph Scott western is tame compared to what she usually plays. From the start of her career, Adele seemed destined to enact sexy females.

She began as a model and she tells the story of a billboard in Newark, N. J., on which she displayed her gams for a hosiery ad. She claims that a series of auto accidents occurred in rapid succession near the billboard. After an investigation, the ad was removed in the interests of public safety.

Adele's first big Broadway break was another hint of the shape of things to come. She replaced Gypsy Rose Lee in "Star and Garter."

She was tabbed for pictures by a talent scout. Her first screen role was in "Together Again"—as a strip teaser. Her most recent role was in "Code 3"—as a strip teaser.

"I've played so many witches, I feel like one," she signed. "Out of the 30 pictures I have made, I have been a bad woman in 20. I go home feeling like one."

In between pictures, Adele is posing for cheesecake. She has been selected for all kinds of honors.

"My most recent nomination was 'Miss Hot Tea of 1950,'" she reported. "There have been so many like that, I can't remember them all.

"When Anita Colby was 'The Face' and Frank Sinatra was 'The Voice,' I was dubbed 'The eye-ful.'"

The blonde beauty does most of her posing in a bathing suit, but she believes that women are sexier covered up.

"You don't have to undress to be sexy," she claimed. "Sex is in your manner. Your eyes do the talking."

Adele, whose 128 pounds are admirably distributed over her five-feet, six-inch frame, no doubt has talkative eyes. I didn't notice.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

Because with lies ye have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad; and strengthened the hands of the wicked that he should not return from his wicked way by promising him life. — Ezekie 13:22.

Let falsehod be a stranger to thy Let falsehood be a stranger to thy lips;
Shame on the policy that first began
To tamper with the heart to hide its thoughts
And doubly shame on that inglorious tongue
That sold its honesty and told a lie. — Havard.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK—Mail day. I do not always devote Saturday to looking at the mail, but often do. Many customers like it, and I long to please the customers.

For instance, Mrs. Mary Smollen, San Diego, likes particularly my occasional references to Pennsylvania, and letters from Pennsylvania towns. She comes from Monessen, Pa., a town I do not happen to know. She has three dogs who have many fleas, and wonders what to do. Specifically, I do not know. We use many flea remedies, and most of them work well. But not all scratching dogs are scratching about fleas.

And, speaking of mail, may I repeat a few old maxims:

Don't expect an answer to a question by mail if you do not enclose a stamped and addressed envelope. You notice that I said "and addressed. Your own spelling of your name is apt to be correct. Besides, why should you expect me to address your envelopes for you? I have so may other things to do, believe me.

Don't send me manuscripts to read or edit. It might be unlawful for me to comply with your request. I am not a manuscript reader.

Don't bother to write me anonymous letters or postcards. These things are never read. If you are afraid to sign your name, don't waste postage.

Don't write me letters saying that you-all is used only in plural in the South. I know it already. But every time I say so I get those letters.

I like letters. I would shoot a grasshopper, climb a water tank or cry in church if I didn't get a lot of letters every morning. But anonymous letters, letters asking definite informaion without return postage, and letters saying that you-all is plural are apt to make me uncomfortable, at least up to 10:06 a.m.

Marguerite Farmer, Lansing, Mich., particularly likes my occasional cracks at the Commies, and my warnings against traitors in high places. Well, that hardly needs any caps or embroidery today, does it? . . . Dale Snively, Deland, Fla., was a schoolmate of John Noble the Elder in Wichita, and formerly lived in Yonkers. Small world! . . . Hartley C. Laycock, reading that I might be in Florida soon, invites me to Cocoa, where, he says, are the best things in Florida. He says he has no greenhouse in which to raise orchids, otherwise he'd send me one daily for the column he reads daily. But Mr. Laycock, I don't like orchids! Roses are much better . . . . I read in the papers that Mr. C. Driscoll Grimes, Greenwich, Conn., is attorney for poor Mrs. Hester McCullough, who has been sued by a pink-and-baby-blue harmonica player for saying he was red. I'm wishing Mr. Grimes luck anyway, but especially if he's one of the family.

We were talking about autographs the other day. I haven't been diligent about collecting them, but I noticed these autographed books on my shelves recently:

"County Editor," by Henry B. Hough (Doubleday, 1940), autographed by my friend, George Reynolds of New Bedford, friend of Hough.

"Sailing South American Skies," by James Saxon Childers (Farrar, 1936), inscribed "With love and with best regards to his banker." Childers was always amused by my long battle with a thieving banker.

"Backfurrow," by G. D. Eaton (Putnam), inscribed: "Saying that he is an ass with plenty of leisure if he reads it." Eaton used to write for a magazine on which I was an editor, and he knew I had not much leisure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Are pearl oysters found anywhere along the coasts of the U.S.?

A—Pearl oysters are not found in the waters around the continental United States. The only pearl oysters to be found in American waters are in a small bed in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Q—What college boasts the oldest academic building in the United States?

A—The Sir Christopher Wren Building at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Virginia, is the oldest academic structure in the United States.

Q—What is the origin of the golf term divot?

A—In Scotland, oblongs of turf are used for covering the roofs of cottages. Such a piece of turf is called a divot, hence, in golf a piece of turf cut out in making a stroke.

Q—How many Rocky Mountain goats are left?

A—It is estimated that there are 14,000 Rocky Mountain goats in the continental United States. Most of them are in the wilderness areas of the national forests in Washington, Idaho, and Montana. Goats are also found in Alaska. They may be hunted under special permit and in accordance with state laws.

Q—Can mineral deposits in the Antarctic be detected from the air?

A—Scientists are now locating ore deposits by aerial photography. This is accomplished by a new instrument called an aerial magnetometer which, hung by cable from a plane, can measure the changes in the magnetism of the earth, thereby indicating the location of mineral deposits.

Looking Ahead

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The rumpus over the state department loyalty files may go to court before it's over.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md), of the Senate subcommittee set up to investigate charges there are Communists in the state department, says the committee will subpena the files if necessary.

President Truman has kept the committee guessing as to what he will do if a showdown comes. He has ordered the department not to release the files without his approval, but he also says he's perfectly willing to cooperate with the investigation.

One administration official says Mr. Truman may go along with the senators in the end, but the president has indicated that perhaps they hadn't better push him to hard. He said that after all it's pretty difficult to serve a subpena on the president. Some senators say the whole thing may lead to a court test of presidential powers.

In any case, look for the Republicans to make fullest use of the communism issue in the congressional campaign next fall.

Import Troubles

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Lines are being formed inside the administration for and against the idea of government aid to industries that may get hurt by administration efforts to make other nations self-supporting.

The result of this campaign may be soaring imports.

Secretary of State Acheson says more imports "will cause difficulty and suffering" and that the government should do something about it.

Paul Hoffman, director of the Marshall plan, says any difficulties will be confined to "a few localities" and that relief should be limited to unemployment pay, training of men for new jobs and training of industries to get into new fields.

DP Delay

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Look for senate debate on the displaced persons bill to run for weeks.

Principal disputes as far as the bill itself goes center around (1) who should be classed as displaced persons and (2) priorities for their admission into the U.S.

These issues are thorny enough, but the debate will be cluttered considerably with arguments over how the present bill has been administered. Both Democratic and Republican voices have been heard, however, decrying these arguments as "confusing the issue."

Senator McCarran (D-Nev) says he has reports that Soviet agents have slipped into the country disguised as refugees.

Quiet On Arms

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Look for intensified efforts to keep shipments of arms to Atlantic pact nations secret. State and defense department officials want to prevent Communist demonstrations when arms ships arrive in French and Italian ports.

Arrival of the French aircraft carrier Dixemude to load fighter planes at Norfolk, Va., last week was supposed to be secret, but it leaked out. Meanwhile dozens of boxcars of military equipment are heading for east coast ports and will be at sea within two weeks.

Weasel in Doghouse

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The army's famous weasel, the small full-tracked vehicle designed for amphibious work in Arctic snows and "Muskeg" swamps, is headed for the junk heap.

Weasels proved totally inadequate during the recent Alaskan maneuvers. Nearly half of them broke down the first week.

But a replacement is already on the drawing boards at Big Delta, Alaska, the army's Arctic indoctrination school.

Cobalt for Cancer

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The atomic energy commission is considering the possibility of "cobalt machines" that would serve the same purpose as x-ray machines in the treatment of certain cancer patients.

Radioactive cobalt already is available in "needle" form. The new twist would be a machine housing a large amount of the metal, equal in radiation to the largest x-ray machines.

Brannan's 'Little Pigs'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A bad crop year might turn surplus potatoes dumped as fertilizer or fed to the livestock into the same kind of political millstone for Agriculture Secretary Brannan as those little pigs were for Henry A. Wallace.

Wallace, secretary of agriculture in early new deal days, promoted the killing of little pigs to reduce supplies of pork and thus pep up hog prices.

He has been haunted by them ever since. Later periods of food shortage were blamed in part on the mass slaughter.

A short potato crop this year might spell the same sort of trouble for Brannan. Production has been running far ahead of needs during 10 successive good weather years, but a bad year is overdue.

Around the World

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia —(AP)— Emperor Haile Selassie says negotiations are going on among Ethiopia, Egypt and the Sudan looking toward construction of a storage dam at Lake Tsana, headwaters of the Nile.

SYDNEY, Australia —(AP)— Kings chieftans and headmen of the south Pacific Islands will meet at Suva, Fiji, next month to discuss their social, economic and health problems. (They'll travel by the plane, not dug-out canoe.)

ALBANY, N.Y.—(AP)—A state bar association committee is sponsoring a bill to allow paroled lifers to marry. It says married parolees are better social risks.

HAIFA, Israel—(AP)—Some of 40 laborers will leave soon for the United States to study production methods. They will train others on their return.

OUR CHILDREN

HOW ABOUT SANTA CLAUS?

"What shall I tell the children about Santa Claus? Won't they feel I cheated and lied when they discover he does not exist?"

Children, when they learn the truth about Santa, do not charge their parents with lying and cheating. They smile an understanding smile and cherish the memory of him in their hearts their lives long. For Santa is real, as real as love can be and love, you have heard, is the strongest force in the world.

Santa is a fairy, a good fairy who brings gifts and great joy to children. Children are fortunate enough to have a world of their own in which imagniation plays a great part. A wise and tender Providence must have seen to that, lest the children suffer the ills and misfortune that are the inevitable lot of mankind. They live in a world where there is no care beyond a child's care for his feelings, his toys, his childish wants. The fairy belongs in this world, peoples it for the children, fills it with color and joy and great content.

What would you not give a child's wide-eyed faith in the magic carpet, the magic lamp, the fairy godmother? That faith gives the child a feeling of power when he is weak, gives him joy when sorrow might have shadowed his spirit, gives him peace when he might otherwise be greatly troubled. Imagination and fantasy are the buffers protecting childhood against the harsh actualities of life. Respect them.

We need not fear that the children will lean too hard on Santa. Life attends to that. Too soon it closes in upon the child and he learns how harsh life can be, how unkind people can be to each other, how few the joys and how many the griefs that come his way. Let him enjoy Santa while he can.

If he can carry his faith in the generosity, the kindness, the charm of the Santa spirit down the years of his life, he has a charm against evil. He has the essence of love and good will within him and they will brighten his days and bring warmth to his heart.

Think his mother and father cheated him? Never. He will smile cheerily and in his turn make Santa a reality in the lives on his own children. Santa is love's spirit and love is eternal. Children need Santa Claus, need to nourish their imaginations and their faith in the good life affords.

Weary children are often difficult to get to bed at night. Dr. Patri offers help to parents in leaflet P-28, "Bedtime Troubles." To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to him, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS

A fortnight ago, you may but probably don't remember, I ran a list of the cultural odds-and-ends I would like to see sealed up in a cornerstone for the benefit of the folks a hundred years from now.

This column got quite a reaction from my ever-lovin' and ever-writin' readers — bless their little pens and portables — and their suggestions for additions to my list included, among other things, an aerial view of Stromboli, one of Marie Wilson's sweaters and a sound track of Margaret Truman's decibels.

But far and away the most interesting communique came from a Mrs. Amelia Rault who lives in Allentown, Pennsylvania. She wrote:

"That cornerstone idea of yours is a good one, but how are the folks in 2050 going to know what our civilization was like if you only seal up items which concern themselves with the big and important matters? If you ask me, the most revealing things about our way of life are not the ones that get written up on page one — they're the one-paragraph stories that appear in newspapers on the page next to the funnies or under the crossword puzzles. And to give you an idea of what I mean, I'm inclosing a few I've clipped out of the papers from time to time ..."

PORT HURON, Mich. — George McCallom recently complained to a doctor of fluttering noises in his head. The doctor examined him and in one of his ears found a moth and four eggs.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Theatre manager John Graber sent out a hurry call for a hacksaw yesterday. A four-year-old boy, obviously destined to be a movie critic, had fallen asleep during the picture and gotten his head caught under the arm rest. The seat had to be sawed apart to set the him loose.

OTTAWA, Ontario — Mrs. Fred Brown, while driving her husband's new car, heard a clanging noise. When she got out to investigate, she found a large steel disk on the road and, assuming it was part of the car, picked it up and put it in the luggage compartment. When her hubby got home, he made her take the manhole cover back to the City Works Department.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — A small white dog belonging to six-year-old Roy Henderson bit (1) the truant officer, (2) the school principal, (3) the dog catcher, (4) the owner of a hot-dog stand.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Gerald Sanchez was granted a divorce this afternoon when he proved that his wife had, on various occasions, hit him over the head with his own wooden leg.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — Mrs. Fannie Heller, a steeplejack, has given up her profession because of injuries sustained a few weeks ago when she slipped getting out of the bathtub.

LONDON, England — Barbers have given up the idea of charging sixpence less for a haircut if the customer's head is bare on top. They report that, with few exceptions, the gentlemen with bald pates have indignantly insisted on paying the full price.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — At a recent meeting of the Direct Mail Advertising Assn., a speaker told of a young man who had courted his lady friend by letter. He sent her a proposal every day for 65 days. On the 66th day the girl married the mailman.

EDITOR'S ROUNDTABLE

BRITISH POLITICAL TREND

Most editors see the resurgence of the British Conservative Party as a definite continuation of the Australia - New Zealand trend against socialism. But to a small minority the inconclusive election result is principally an expression of current British indecision due to numerous factors, including the dominant personality of the Conservative leader, Churchill. Majority opinion is that a new election, within a matter of months, probably will result in a Conservative government. — Opinion appears to divide about equally as to whether this trend offers parallels of material significance to the current American politics.

Cincinnati (Ohio) Times-Star (Rep.): 'The British election will be heartening to opponents of socialism everywhere. Though it leaves the Laborites precariously in power, the near-disappearance of the immense Labor majority reflects the steady trend away from socialism - in Western Europe, and lately in New Zealand and Australia. The Labor-Socialist program in Britain will be slowed down, if not stopped. With the parties so narrowly divided, there is a lively prospect of an early no-confidence vote, and another national election."

Hartford (Conn.) Courant (Rep.) "This .... election had been hailed as a showdown in which John Bull would make up his mind whether to march bravely into more socialism or pull back. He did neither. In one sense a decision was made. The largest number of voters in Britain's history did show clearly that they were not ready to plunge into the icy waters of further nationalization. ...Mr. Attlee plainly cannot go ahead with his plan for nationalizing steel, or even with far lesser Socialist measures. .... But the issue remains. Another election sooner rather than later, seems inevitable."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.—Rep.): "A new election is more likely to benefit the Conservatives than the Labor party. The total opposition vote against Labor, that consisted mostly of Conservative and Liberal votes, was far larger than the total Labor vote. It does seem likely that many who voted Liberal will vote Conservative in any new election in order to make their votes count against socialism. The significance of these election results is that a majority of the British people have rejected socialism."

Wichita (Kans.) Morning Eagle (Ind.): 'The real result of the British election is indecision. .... Back in the twenties and early thirties Britain was similarly undecided, swinging first to Baldwin, the Conservative, and then to MacDonald, the moderate Laborite. It lasted for more than ten years. It may be ten years or more before the British finally make up their minds this time. What Britain does in the end is of great consequence to the western world."

Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal (Ind.-Dem.): "Senator Taft has solemnly proclaimed the near-defeat of labor the signal of a world-wide swing to the right. In England it is nothing of the sort. Except for a few subsidiary points, the Conservative Party's election manifesto clings steadfastly to the welfare state. .... The intangibles which have narrowed the Labor Party's majority so drastically can never be accurately measured. ... But Britain as a Socialist state seems destined to remain a fact, regardless of the trumpet calls of our own conservatives to their brethren across the sea."

Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch (Ind.) "The Conservatives, while making no issue of the superficial 'benefits' of Socialism had the courage to make an issue of the basic principles. The issue was plainly made. It was similar to the issue agitating the American political scene, namely, that which is intricately wrapped up in a growing government determination to exercise all control over where and how a man may work, how much he may earn, where and how he may live and a multiplying number of other decisions which, under Socialism, must be taken away from the individual.'

New York Herald Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "The election represents an effort to stabilize at a certain point, the narrow but vitally important point between the welfare and the Socialist state. It reflects doubts and fears of Socialism becoming quite as vivid as the satisfactions of welfare This effort represents a big and perhaps a very difficult adventure. ....The ebbing tide of Socialims has not reversed the rising tide of welfare; Britain is now plunging in the hard short chop between them. Her experience must stand as a lesson of intense interest for all the rest of the free world."

HARBERT CATCHES BURKE IN ST. PETE OPEN

CHICK CARDS 65 TO CLAIM SHARE OF LEADERSHIP

Toby Lyons, Henry Ransom Two Strokes Behind In Third Place

By F. T. MacFeely

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4. — (AP) — Red hot Chick Harbert roared over the Pasadena course in 65 strokes for the second day in a row to catch Jack Burke in the St. Petersburg Golf Open today.

Chick Harbert

They were tied at 203 after 54 holes with one more 18 hole round to play tomorrow.

Burke added a two under par 69 to his pair of 67's over the 6,285-yard layout.

Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., added his name to the course record holders when he birdied the last five holes for a 64 today. That gave him 205 and a third place tie with Toby Lyons, Warren, Pa. Lyons had 69 today.

For Harbert it was about the same story as yesterday, but even more so. He three-putted three holes but made up for it with an eagle on the 18th.

There his second shot hit in the crowd at the back of the green and he used a putter to roll the ball right in from 40 feet.

Burke, the curly-haired, 27-year-old pro who follows the snappy style in golf clothes set by colorful Jimmy Demaret, continued to shoot fine golf, but as he put it:

"You can't stop a man shooting those 65's."

Another fine round today came off the clubs of George Bolesta, Danville, Ill., pro whose family home is nearby Tampa. Bolesta carded a 66 for 208 and shared fifth place with George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa. Fazio had 70 today.

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco came next with 209. Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., pro, dropped back when he went two over par with 73. His 54 hole total was 210, the same as Jack Harden of El Paso, Texas, who moved into the picture with a 66.

Sam Snead, the big money winner, took 69 today but that left him in the middle of a well-bunched field at 211.

The low 60 players with scores of 222 or better moved into tomorrow's final round.

Jack Burke, White Plains, N. Y., 67-67-69—203.

Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., 73-65-65—203.

Robinson, Costner Start Training For 10-Rounder

PHILADELPHIA, March 4. — (AP) — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight boxing champion, and George (Sugar) Costner, Philadelphia title aspirant, begin training tomorrow for their 10 round non-title fight here March 22.

Robinson already is settled at his favorite conditioning establishment in Pompton Lakes, N. J., while Costner will workout at Summitt, N. J.

The champion says he needs plenty of work to get into shape despite four recent victories. Robinson has promised Costner a shot at the welter crown if his showing in the March 22 bout warrants it.

Thomsen To Coach North Lacrosse Against South

PHILADELPHIA, March 4. — (AP) — Ferris Thomsen, lacrosse coach at the University of Pennsylvania, today was appointed head coach of the South team which will meet the North in the annual All-America lacrosse game at College Park, Md., June 9.

Conrad J. Sutherland, president of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, announced the selection Thomsen, a native of Baltimore.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, March 4 — (AP) —Al Cartwright, the Wilmington, Del., Scribe, passes along a "Dead Alumnus" letter recently sent out by a college freshman coach...It points out that the "Dartmouth Amendment" now forbids NCAA Colleges to pay expenses for prospective athletes to visit the campus for tryouts or sight-seeing.... Then it explans: "The ruling is not too harsh on larger colleges. They'll be able to call on interested graduates to bring boys to their campus. We're asking your help in doing the same thing for us." ...That again proves that if there are more ways of skinning a cat, a college education will bring them out...Jake Lamotta, who received a championship belt from Ray Hickock after winning the middleweight title from Marcel Cerdan, won't give it back although conditions called for a successful title defense before gaining permanent possession. Maybe Ray should offer him a pair of suspenders in trade.

All's Well

Jack Russell, captain and ace end of the football Yankees last year, recently drove from Texas to New York in his father's car to have a bone chip removed from his elbow and to buy a snappy new motor vehicle for himself..... Plan was that Jack would drive one car home and his wife the other..... The operation proved more troublesome than expected; Jack couldn't even tie his necktie, much less steer a car...But it turned out okay, anyway. They couldn't get delivery on the model they wanted, so Jack went home as a passenger.

Sportsmention

Red Dawson, Biggie Munn's new coaching assistant at Michigan State, was best man at Biggie's wedding several years ago.....Bob Payne, California reserve, are identical twin brothers. Their former coach at San Francisco Jr. College, advised them to go to different colleges because they'd have better chances to make good ..... Sammy Snead says he isn't going back to his White Sulphur Pro Golf job because the hotel folks want him to stay there too much instead of playing in tournaments... Barney Ross is preparing a television program, "Boxing Scouts," in which he'll actually instruct kids in boxing...In the hospital after undergoing a serious operation, Oklahome Basketball Coach Bruce Drake told Line Coach Gomer Jones: "I feel just like the leopard—all dopey."...Okay as long as rivals don't say Bruce picks his spots.

Figgers, By Jiggers

In the recent western Michigan-Butler basketball game, Bob Adams of Western hit his team's last 13 points for a school-record total of 33 and Butler's buckshot O'Brien sunk the last eleven for his team and a total of 30...In all the years the Phillips 66 basketballers have been playing, no player has scored more than 29 points in one game, for or against the Bartlesville, Okla, outfit.

St. Matthew's Sextet Defeats St. Vincent's

Savana led the St. Matthew's girls under the nets with eleven points, closely followed by Maggio with ten. Leading scorer for St. Vincent's was Jones with eight points, followed by Harrington with five.

The St. Matthew's lineup included Savana, Maggio, Ticheli, Tornatore, Hill and Varino, forwards; L. Tornatore, Otwell, Eberts, Rolleigh, Shipp and Renaud, guards. Playing for St. Vincent's were Jones Phillips, Harrington, and Cano, forwards; Ellis, Steter, Savdory, and Hamand.

Semi-Pro Rule Book Same As Pros For First Time

WICHITA, Kas., March 4.—(AP)—The first run of a million copies of semi-pro baseball's rule book for 1950 was printed today. For the first time it's identical to professional baseball rules.

Ray DuMont, National Congress president, said a half million complimentary copies will be given to 'teen-age players through a tieup with radio stations.

DuMont said the 1950 official rules were copyrighted by pro ball's commissioner, Albert B. Chandler, because 'the commissioner's office desired all rules governing baseball to be the same."

But some pro rules can't apply to the semi-pro sport, he added — such as fines and suspensions from the organized sport. Such rules are marked by asterisk in the semi-pro books.

Special sections also outline the program of the semi-pro congress' National Association of Leagues, and its tournament program leading to the 16th annual National playoffs at Wichita Aug. 18-31.

Auburn Cagers Consider L. S. U. Smoothest Machine

AUBURN, Ala., March 4.—(AP)—A majority of the Auburn basketball team considers Louisiana State the smoothest opponent met by the Plainsmen this season.

To back up that decision, Auburn cagers picked two L. S. U. players for their all-opponent team and one each from Alabama, Vanderbilt and Tulane.

Six of the 10 Plainsmen players voting chose L. S. U. as tops in smoothness. The other four favored Vanderbilt.

The all-opponent team:

Forwards — Billy Joe Adcock (Vanderbilt) and Bob MEADOR (Louisiana State); Center—Jim Riffey (Tulane); Gurads—Dick McKenzie (Alabama) and Gene Murphy (Louisiana State).

Big 7 Group Reaffirms Ineligibility Of Pearson

KANSAS CITY, March 3. — (AP) — Lindell Pearson, star halfback, can not play any more football for the University of Oklahoma.

Big seven Conference faculty representatives, by a vote of 6 to 1, today reasserted their ruling of last December that Pearson has used up his three years of varsity competition.

Pearson has played only two years at Oklahoma but competed for a short time on the University of Arkansas "B" team while a freshman at that school in 1947. The faculty committee counted the Adkansas period as a year of varsity competition.

Today's vote killed a motion by Oklahoma to recognize the December ruling.

LEAVES HOSPITAK

EAST LANSING Mich., March 3. —(AP)—Michigan State Football Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn was allowed to leave the hospital and go home today. Munn had been hospitalized since a week ago Sunday by a stomach ulcer, blamed on the rigors of the "banquet circuit."

CURTIS RETURNS BUT NOT IN TITLE BOUT WITH ESTES

Ex-Champ Teamed With Harrell Against Steddum, Cologne Combination

"Wrestling fans will have to settle for second choice this week," Promoter Gus Kallio said last night as he announced the billing of a tag scrap featuring Jack Curtis, Henry Harrell, "Wild Bill" Steddum and George Colongne as his main event Tuesday night.

"First choice of the fans would have been a return title match between Curtis and Champion Balk Estes. I tried my best to arrange it, but Estes balked again, saying it was 'impossible' for him to take the match," Kallio declared.

Kallio said he had argued to bring Estes back with Curtis plenty willing; that he had made a substantial cash offer to get the title match again, but that Estes was as reluctant as before finally agreeing to last week's match in which he battled Curtis to a draw.

"I appreciate your feelings and I'm glad I was able to show you and the fans around here that I'm a real champion," Kallio quoted Estes as saying. "Curtis was in tip top shape for the match, and I left him just where he was before. But I'll take a rain check on your proposition. Maybe sometime later we can talk of a return bout."

With the planned title match out, Kallio got busy making arrangements for his tag scramble. There was no trouble making the lineup.

Curtis, world's light heavyweight champion until he lost the belt to Estes last year, will be paired with Harrell, a rough-and-tumble bruiser from Knoxville and Vicksburg, against the combination of Steddum, the lean Texas, and Cologne, a newcomer from New Orleans.

The relay match will be over a 90-minute time limit route with two falls to win. Bill Barney will be the referee.

Two one-fall matches, serving as tuneups for the main event talent, will open the Tuesday card at 8 o'clock.

Phillip Ambrose Wins Piano Scholarship

Phillip Ambrose, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z.C. Ambrose, Monroe, was declared winner yesterday morning in the J. Paul Hewit Piano Scholarship to Interlochen, Michigan.

The judge was Ralph Squires, head of the Centenary School of Music, Shreveport.

Squires stated that the decision demanded "hair-splitting" on his part, so excellent were the entrants.

The first music teaching young Ambrose had was that by his mother, a professional musician in her own right. Following his mother's instruction, Phillip spent five years in formal study in Wichita Falls, Tex. For the past year and a half, he has been a student under Frank Parker, Jr. of Monroe.

The first alternate chosen by Squires was 16 year-old Jane Wallace, of West Monroe, a student of Florence eigler Allbritton. Second alternate was Fern Lee Kirk, 15 year old student of Miss Clara Freiburg.

It was explained that Interlochen, Michigan was the location of a music camp.

Central Track Meet Will Begin Monday

EAST LANSING, Mich., March 4.—(AP)—A full crew of colleges has been assembled for the Central Collegiate Conference track and field meet here Monday.

Michigan State agreed to take over the meet after it was bounced back and forth by the schools unable to sponsor the affair because of the coal shortage.

The meet originally was scheduled for Saturday at Michigan state. Seeking to conserve coal stocks, Michigan State asked Notre Dame to take it over. Notre Dame agreed, but then found it was caught with its own coal stocks down and bounced it back again.

Finally Michigan State arranged to run the meet as a morning-and-afternoon affair — with all events to be completed before the 5 p. m. deadline for turning off heat in all campus structures.

Despite the mixup, all 11 teams scheduled to compete will be on hand Monday, M. S. C. athletic officials said today. Included will be Michigan State, Central Michigan, Drake, Miami (Ohio), Michigan Normal, Notre Dame, Wayne, Western Michigan, Bradley University, Marquette and De Paul.

Santa Anita Won't Slice Big Stakes; May Cut Others

ARCADIA, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—Added value of Santa Anita's three $100,000 stakes will remain the same next season, but there may be cuts in other stakes, the Los Angeles Turf Club announced today.

Dr. Charles H. Strub, executive vice-president of the turf club said Santa Anita will maintain the purses of its derby, maturity and big handicap. He added that the balance of the 1950-1951 program will be considered later.

TURFMEN MOVE TO GULFSTREAM

Inaugural Handicap Tops Opening Day Card With Ol' Skipper Favored

MIAMI, Fla., March 3. — (AP) — The $7,500 Inaugural Handicap with a dozen horses participating features the opening tomorrow of Gulfstream Park's 41-day racing meet.

John Marsh's Ol Skipper will carry top weight of 119 pounds for the six furlong test as Florida's winter racing moves from glorious Hialeah park to Gulfstream.

A nine-race program will be run on the opening day. There will be other nine-race cards on nine additional saturday's, Mondays and Wednesdays early in the season with normal eight-race cards after midseason.

Gulfstream will close down the Florida winter meet which began at Tropical Park, moved on to Hialeah and will end at Gulfstream's track-by-the-sea on April 20.

Ol' Skipper is one of the top sprinters here, but he failed over the mile and a quarter in the Widener Handicap last week at Hialeah. Jockey Eddie Nelson will be up when he returns to his favorite sprint distance in the Inaugural.

Palatine Stable's Hash Night, with jockey Joe Culmone up, will carry 115 pounds in the opening feature. Other probably starters and the weights they will carry are:

Artist Life, 112; Eatontown, 112; Yankee Hill, 112; Missab, 110; Miss Disco, 110; Almenow, 109; Harbourton, 108; Gambler, 108; Attention Mark, 108.

MY Biggest BONER

By Fred Merkle

Giant's First Baseman in Three World Series)

Failing to touch second base as the winning run scored was common practice when I pulled the boner I never lived down in September, 1908.

The Giants were fighting the Cubs for the pennant.

It was Christy Mathewson for us and Jack Pfiester for the Chicago club. The score was 1-1 going into the last of the ninth.

Fred Merkle

Harry McCormick singled for New York, and went to third base on my single to right.

There were two out when Al Bridwell hit the ball safely across second base, and McCormick scored what would have been the winning run.

In those days, just as now, the players of both sides sprinted to the clubhouse in center field at the Polo Grounds at the end of a game, just to see who could get there first, and when I played, to avoid spectators flooding the field.

I should have touched second base, of course, but I was a 19-year-old kid in my first full season with the Giants. I hadn't done anything more than pinch-hit once or twice since early July. Fred Tenney was the regular first baseman. I had been a month getting over an infected foot.

Anyway, I dashed to the clubhouse like all the other Giants when I saw McCormick scoring.

But the Cubs had pulled the play in Pittsburgh a few days previous.

They retrieved the ball, or a ball, and the force-out stood.

Making my offense more heinous to more people than you could imagine was the Giants losing the resultant play-off that sent the Cubs into the World Series.

Yet had the Giants won one game of the five they lost in the last 17, the entire incident might have been forgotten.

It might have been overlooked had there not been two out in the ninth, and if the game in which it happened could have continued, which it couldn't because of the crowd on the field.

As things turned out, I did not dare take chances throughout the remainder of my career, for fear of making another mistake.

If those who shout at athletes making a costly mistake at an important moment in the heat of competition knew how my one big slip affected my life and my family, I'm sure they would give the young man much more consideration.

Failing to forgive a player for a slip in a game is even worse.

That's why I'm writing this—in the hope that it will help others.

I played baseball for 22 years, was in six World Series, loved the game.

I'd like to do it all over again, but not if I had to live through 42 years of endless jibes that cut to the quick.

CLAIMED PIRATES SIGNED PETTIT 'ILLEGALLY'

REPORTED BUCS DICKERED WITH STAR IN SCHOOL

New York Sports Writer Says Movie Producer Helped Make $100,000 Deal

NEW YORK, March 4.—(AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune said today it has evidence showing the signing of $100,00 Pitcher Paul Pettit by the Pittsburgh Pirates last January was against baseball law.

In a copyright story from Hollywood, Calif., Herald-Tribune Sports Editor Bob Cooke wrote he has "irrefutable proof" the Pirates dickered illegally for the young southpaw's talents.

Cooke said Pirate President Frank McKinney had talks with Movie Producer Fred Stephani last summer that sewed up the Lomita, Calif., schoolboy before he was graduated from high school in January.

Baseball law forbids any dealing with a high school prospect before his class is graduated.

Several club owners protested in January when Pittsburgh General Manager Roy Hamey announced the Pirates had taken over Pettit's contract in a bizarre, Hollywood-type deal.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler took note of the protests by sending an investigator to California to look into the events leading upto the signing. Chandler gave the Pirates a clean bill of health after his man reported Pittsburgh followed the rules in signing the 18-year-old prospect.

Owner Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals made an especially strong protest against the deal.

Cooke wrote that the Pirates used an intermediary to land the left-hander five months before he was to graduate.

In Tampa, Fla., Chandler said he has no comment on the Herald Tribune charge. He said he would be glad to study any new information given him.

"If this report is true, I think the commissioner should reverse his decision," Saigh said. Saigh also is in Tampa.

Newhouser, Hutchinson Accept Tigers' Terms

LAKELAND, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Pitchers Hal Newhouser and Freddie Hutchinson, sole holdouts at the Detroit Tigers training camp, signed their 1950 contracts today.

Hutchinson, a 15-7 game man last season, was the first to sign after a 12-minute conference with General Manager Billy Evans of the Detroit club. He reportedly got $22,000, an increase of about $2,000 over his 1949 figure.

Newhouser spent 27 minutes with Evans before an agreement was reached. Under it the lefthander took a cut of approximately $10,000 from the $55,000 salary he was paid last year.

Newhouser had rejected the club's first offer, contending that the cut was too great. Evan's onlq comment after today's session was:

"Hal signed for the contract figures we originally offered him."

BOXING MAY BAN STIMULANT USE

N. B. A. To Study Use Of Ammonia Water, Brandy Between Rounds

MILWAUKEE, March 4.—(AP)—National Boxing Association may be asked to ban the giving of stimulants to boxers between rounds.

Fred Saddy, N.B.A., president, said today he had asked Dr. Ward Wiley, West Virginia commissioner and chariman of the N.B.A.'s medical committee, to make a study of the use of stimulants.

"If Dr. Wiley reports that this practice is harmful to boxers I will recommend to the executive committee that it be prohibited," Saddy said.

"We know that boxers frequently are given brandy or ammonia water by their seconds, usually between late rounds of a bout," Saddy said. "This is banned in Wisconsin as our commission contends that it harms the heart and it is our duty to protect the boxer.

"But in many states there is no specific prohibition of the practice. This is a serious matter and the National Boxing Association must take very precaution to safeguard the competitor. If competent medical authorities report that the giving of such stimulants is harmful we ought to ban it.

"I intend to bring the matter before the executive committee when it meets in Washington April 22 and 23."

Red Camellia Wins New Orleans 'Cap By Half Length

2ND PLACE GOES TO BLUE THANKS AT FAIR GROUNDS

Owner Joe Brown Collects $21,600 Top Money; Dart By In Third

NEW ORLEANS, March 4. —(AP)—Red Camellia withstood a late rush by Blue Thanks to win the $25,000-added New Orleans Handicap today.

Jockey Pat Milligan pushed Red Camelia into the lead after a 3-8 of a mile and held on to win by one-half a length.

Red Camelia was timed in 1:49 2-5 over the muddy track. The victory over the mile and a sixteenth was worht $21,600 to owner Joe W. Brown. Red Camelia returned $7.80, $4.20 and $3. The winner carried 104 pounds.

E. M. O'Brien's Blue Thanks came from well back in a late rush that almost overhauled the winner. Jockey Jimmy Combest horses and was gaining on Red Camellia at the finish.

Dart By, owned by the Brookmeade stables and ridden by Con Errico, was third, two lengths off the pace.

Blue Thanks carried 112 pounds, Dart By 122.

The favorite in the early betting, John's Joy, was scratched. He has been assigned top weight of 124 pounds and drew post position number 21, outside the gate.

His trainer decided "not to take any chances" and withdrew him.

There were five other scratches today, reducing the field to 15 horses.

Second place for Blue Thanks brought owner O'Brien $5,000, while third-place Dart By collected $2,500 and fourth place athlete got $1,250.

Jockey Frank Bone rode three winners in a row at today's session, boosting his three-day total to nine. His winning mounts today were Lynn Chance in the third race, Joggins in the fourth and Fighting Louie in the fifth.

The 7,000 fans at today's races poured $297,560 through the mutuels. The crowd was less than expected because of the bad weather.

Agnes Wall Captures South Atlantic Title

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., broke a jinx of a decade and won the 23rd annual South Atlantic Women's Golf Tournament here today.

Playing perhaps the best golf of her career, Miss Wall defeated veteran Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, 2 and 1, in the 18-hole finals over the seaside links of the Ormond Beach Country Club.

Miss Wall has been twice medalist and once runner-up in tournaments here during the past 10 years.

She played the first nine with four birdies and a medal score of 35, two under men's par, to round the turn three up over Miss Riley. Both were hitting their shots well from the tees but the difference was in Miss Riley's inability to sink important putts.

By the time the pair had reached the 15th, Miss Wall had increased her lead to four. Miss Riley rallied and took the 15th and 16th but the match ended on the 17th when they halved it.

SAN FRANCISCO DEFENDS CROWN AT N. I. T. EVENT

Western Kentucky Also Invited To Invitational At New York

NEW YORK, March 4—(AP)—San Francisco University's basketball team, beaten six times during the season, is coming back to Madison Square Garden and defend the National Invitational Tournament title it won a year ago.

That was announced today by Asa Bushnell, chairman of the tourney committee. He also said that Western Kentucky, winner of 24 of 29 games this season, would be among the field of 12.

Previously six other clubs had been designated for the meet which opens in the garden a week from today with four games. Bushnell said he hoped to complete the selections by noon Monday and that seedings and drawings might also be ready by then.

Bradley, Duquesne, St. John's, Long Island University, Syracuse and La Salle of Philadelphia previously were selected. After next Saturday's double headers the N.-I.T. dates are March 13-14-16-18.

Three of San Francisco's losses came during a mid-season trip east while the club was hampered by injuries. The West Coast Five has won 18 and has a game remaining on its schedule. Don Lofgan, who won the most valuable player award in the 1949 meet, still is with the club.

Western Kentucky boasts two star players in Bob Lavoy and Buddy Cate. Most of the team's five defeats came while Cate was out with injuries.

Kansas State, Kentucky, North Carolina State and St. Louis are among those being mentioned for the remaining spots.

There was no change in the N.-C.A.A. tourney lineup today except that winners of the Southern and Southeastern Conference championship meets tonight likely will be the No. 1 candidates from those areas.

The N.C.A.A. eastern playoffs are set for the garden March 23 and 25 while the western skirmishes are booked for Kansas City March 24-25. The N.C.A.A. final will be in Madison Square Garden March 28.

Eddie Stewart Wants Nats To Trade Him Off, End Fuss

ORLANDO, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Outfielder Eddie Stewart has asked President Clark Griffith of the Washington Nationals to trade him because of a salary dispute.

Griffith is not likely to heed Stewart's request that he be traded. "He can sit in California all summer," Griffith says.

5-Year-Old Sets New Track Record In Beating Big C. At Santa Anita

By Bob Myers

ARCADIA, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—Citation failed by a whisker and Noor did it again.

That was the outcome of the $50,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap today, but the cold result can never tell the drama as the great Citation again failed to strike gold on the comeback trail and Noor again emerged triumphant in one of the most exciting duels ever seen at Santa Anita.

It took a photo finish to separate the pair's noses at the finish line, and it was Noor by the barest margin of a nose in a new American record time for the mile and three-quarters.

Mocopo ran third in the field of eight starters as Santa Anita concluded its winter meeting, but all the color and fight came in the battle between the Calumet's dark favorite and Charles S. Howard's Noor.

Sixty thousand fans, their roars stilled for the moment as the stewards examined the photos, witnessed the race.

The widely heralded rematch from last week's $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, when Noor conquered Citation, was better than expected.

The outcome spelled gloom for the hero of the Calumets, again stalling his drive to pass Stymie's all-time turf money winning record, but Big C. went down to defeat with all the glory of a champion.

Yet it justified Noor's triumph of last week, and gave the Irish-bred horse possession of a new American record for the gruelling distance—a time of 2.52 4-5 as compared to the 2.54 3-5 set at the old Latonia track in 1924 by Chilhowee.

It also gave Noor the $40,000 net prize and marked him as the first horse to win the famed Santa Anita hundred-grander and come back the following week to score in the long San Juan.

The battle of the giants really began as they reached the mile and one half pole.

Steve Brooks tapped Citation and he forged to the front for the first time, and then came Johnny Longden aboard Noor, rushing up from the rear to throw his first challenge at the big horse of the race.

At the far turn Citation held a close lead, and Noor was scoring just behind. They hit the stretch and Noor grabbed the lead by a head. Then Citation moved to the front.

That was the way they came as they drummed on to the finish line. Heads bobbing, legs striking the turf almost in unison, one a head in front, then the other.

Then they hit the wire. Observers from above were divided.

Some were confident Mister C. had won, had achieved his goal.

Others were equally sure that Noor had won, had become the first and only horse to beat Citation twice, had handed the ex-triple crown champ his fourth defeat in succession.

No one was sure.

The photo went zinging down from the roof to the stewards' stand. The crowd remained deathly silent, even patient, as the stewards studied the photo. Actually, the time they spent was not so long as it seemed.

The giant board in the infield went blank. Then the bright yellow numerals were flashed on. No. 3—Noor's—came up. Then No. 7—lucky for Noor, unlucky for Citation.

The betting payoff was just about as expected. Noor, the second choice to Citation in the public fancy, paid $8.80, $3 and $2.50. Citation, the favorite and sentimental choice, paid $2.30 and $2.10, and Clifford Mooer's Mocopo $2.60.

Once again it appeared that weights may have beaten the mighty Citation. He carried top impost of 130 pounds, with Noor going at 117. Last week Big C. packed 132 and Noor a feather of 110.

But the line of separation at the finish couldn't have been drawn closer. It was as taut as a violin string.

As expected, the speedy Moonrush sailed out immediately onto the pace, and Old Rockport took in behind. Citation trailed confidently in the third spot from the start until he made his move, and Noor was held back around seventh until he began to swing into action.

Noor was actually last at the mile and one-half point, and then he began to pass horses. He passed them easily and quickly, and then caught up and took his initial thrust at Citation.

Moonrush and Old Rockport killed each other off, and the wind-up behind the top three was: Old Rockport, Hedgewood, Rose Beam, Safe Arrival and Moonrush.

The five-year-old Noor, of course, set a new track record, lowering Fuego's 2:58 1-5 in 1947.

Citation's second place netted him $10,000, edging him closer to Stymie's record of $918,485. Citation thus wound up his appearances here just $9,285 short of the Stymie mark, with a total of $899,200.

Delta League Meeting Slated Tuesday Night

The Louisiana Delta Baseball League will draw up final plans for the opening of its 1950 season at a meeting scheduled for Tuesday night at the Ouachita Vocational Training School behind Millsaps School in West Monroe. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Hal Willis, new president of the amateur baseball group, said adoption of a schedule would come up with the chief business of the night.

The league plans to open its schedule April 9 and close late in August, playing two games a week.

High Cost Of Athletics Reflected In Ohio State's Financial Report

By Ken Davis

COLUMBUS, O., March 4.—(AP)—Ohio State University—sitting atop the Western Conference athletic heap—figures to profit nearly $250,000 from its year of championships.

The Buckeyes are having what may be their finest year in athletic competition. They are co-champions of football, winner of the Rose Bowl, champions of basketball, unbeaten in swimming and once-beaten in wrestling.

Athletic auditor E.E. Bernard estimated today the net income after taxes for the giant Ohio State athletic plant will be about $240,000—about $30,000 greater than the preceding year.

And, the gold gravy is due entirely to football, the favorite sport of the Buckeyeland.

The Rose Bowl champions last fall attracted gross income of $1,091,379.51. From this sizeable sum, the Bucks paid to visiting grid teams guarantees totaling $313,082.82, leaving net ticket sales income of $778,296.69. This is after federal taxes, which totaled $167,539.37—or about one-sixth of the money paid for those tickets "on the 50-yard line."

But, all is not gravy that glitters like gold. Football is the only Ohio State sport that pays its own way.

Take the 1948-1949 season, for instance: Basketball lost $12,697.24; track $12,599.67; baseball $11,677; golf $10,63'."; swimming $7,849.59.

Besides which, the school has tennis, wrestling, fencing, rifle shooting, la crosse and gymnastics taking their monetary toll each season.

Add to this capital expenditures, such as the press box now being built atop the gray old staduim, and administrative costs, and similar expenditures.

As a matter of fact, it may even cost Ohio State hard-earned thousands for the privilege of being called Rose Bowl champions. The trip cost about $78,000; the return isn't likely to be more than about $75,000, perhaps not even that much.

And, Ohio State hasn't yet collected that much.

It cost about $41,000 to send the team itself, what the Rose Bowl calls "allowable expenses." In addition, it cost about $29,000 to send Ohio State's marching band. Then, too, there were expenses for which the university will get no recompense from the Rose Bowl. This total is about $8,000.

The Rose Bowl will pay the $41,000 allowable expense. Ohio State's cut of the half million dollar Rose Bowl gate probably will be about $24,000 or $25,000.

Of course, it's not all outgo. Some of the minor sports even bring in cash money. Take fencing, for instance. Why, in its 1948-1949 season, the foil-and-lunge boys reported an income of $29.50.

That's the way it goes with most of the minor sports. The only other so-called minor sports to report incomes were baseball $525; swimming $'48.71, wrestling $164.10 and track $1,682.76, basketball $12,877.57.

And, too, there's profit in the pages of those programs you buy at football and basketball games, sometimes. In 1948-1949, the profit was $16,422.18.

Football broadcasting brought in a net of $21,811.6', while basketball broadcasting turned $404.10.

And, because you want hot dogs and hot chocolate, among other items of food and drink, the university is able to sell concessions. They brought in $1,435.29 last year.

But, you don't run a big-time university athletic department for peanuts. Take the item of salaries:

Ohio State paid out $196,916.33 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1949.

Administrative and general expenses came to $198,477.58. The Ohio State University golf course and clubhouse cost $114,172.43.

Training expense is listed in the athletic department's official report for the period at $12,702.72, and medical expense at $5,967.05. Did you ever stop to think what it costs when a star halfback gets a knee injury? That's all a part of the $6,000 medical bill.

Income keeps going up a bit each year for Ohio State athletics, but expenses keep going up just as fast—or faster. Last year, for instance, Ohio State paid out better than $21,000 just to take care of its athletic equipment.

And, explains auditor Bernard, equipment costs more. A football commonly called "pigskin," now costs about as much as the whole hog.

134 HORSES ARE NOMINATED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Most Of Top Names From Last Year's Juveniles Picked For May Run

By Barney Ballard

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 4.—(AP)—Churchill Downs announced a list of 134 three-year-old thoroughbreds today from which to choose the starters in this year's Kentucky Derby.

The list is impressive, including most of the top names from last year's juvenile runners. The owners include several whose entries have won two or more derbies in the past years.

Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, for example, has nominated seven colts in an effort to find its fifth Derby winner. Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Maine Chance farm has nominated five, King Ranch qualified four and so did Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable.

Belair Stud named three of its best three-year-olds and Greentree stable nominated two. Mrs. John D. Hertz, owner of another derby winner, named grandfather as her derby choice.

William Helis, the New Orleans restaurant and oil man, qualified eight for the derby in a renewed effort to start a winner in the $100,000-added race.

The Derby, set for May 6, will be run over a mile and one-quarter course. It will be the seventy-sixth running of America's best known turf classic and will be the first under the supervision of Bill Corum.

Corum, New York sports columnist and sportscaster, succeeded the late Col. Matt J. Winn, who died a few months after watching the Diamond Jubilee Derby last May.

Heading the list of Calumet farm nominations is Theory, son of Pensive, 1944 Derby winner. Other Calumet eligibles are All Blue, Contribution, Courage, Mostests, Opinionated and Skelter.

Topping the list of four fillies was A.G. Vanderbilt's Bed O' Roses, champion of her sex and leading money winner among the last year's juveniles. Vanderbilt also nominated the filly, Next Move.

The other two fillies were Drifting Maid, owned by Helis, and Fanueil Miss, owned by John Deveney's Honeywell farm. Both of them were stakes winners in 1949.

Among the other outstanding of nominees were Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, W.M. Peavey's Wisconsin Boy, R.B. Carroll's Mucho Mas, Abercrombie and Smith's Stranded and the west coast satellite, William Goetz's Your Host. The latter won the recent $100,000 Santa Anita Derby.

One of Greentree stable's nominations was Gullotine, winner of the Belmont Futurity.

BIG EIGHT LOOP OPENING SEASON SUNDAY, MAY 14

Fox Again Heads Amateur Baseball League; Other Officials Re-elected

RUSTON, La., March 4. — (Special) — The Big Eight League will officially open its 1950 schedule on May 14 when the eight clubs start playing twice a week, according to Lawrence J. Fox who was re-elected president of the amateur loop at a recent meeting of the team managers here.

P. G. Grambling, Jr., of Ruston has been authorized to frame a schedule for the squads and will present it for approval at the next meeting, Fox remarked in outlining the plans for the opening contests.

Three other office-holders were also re-elected to their positions. They were Mayor Don Lomax of Bernice, vice-president; G. L. McIlveene, Dubach, treasurer; and Raymond Jeffress, Jonesboro, secretary. Bobby Henderson of Ruston was reappointed publicity director.

Officials had entertained possibilities of increasing the number of teams to 12 and divide the loop into two six-club divisions. However, the prospective teams were not able to enter the division plan at this time, and the idea was dismissed for the 1950 season.

Bernice finished first during the regular campaign last year but the Ruston Rebels, who placed second in the final standings, came out on top in the Shaughnessy playoff to win the pennant. Sterlington held down the third position with the Ruston Vols in the fourth spot rounding out the top four.

The addition of two new clubs, Minden and Farmerville, who took over the franchises of Simsboro and Marion, respectively, will give more strength to the loop, which boasts of $1,102.94 in its treasury.

The official team representative of each club includes Alton Bradley, Bernice; Huey Williamson, Ruston Rebels; Charlie Giddens, Sterlington; Berry Hinton, Ruston Vols; Marvin Fowler, Dubach; Jack Long, Farmerville; J. P. Fenton, Hodge, and Larry Hunter, Minden.

KENTUCKY CAGERS STILL RULE S.E.C. RANKS

WILDCATS ROUT VOLS IN FINALS BY 95-58 SCORE

Louisiana State Bows Out To Tennessee In Semi-Finals 71 To 69

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 4.—(AP)—Kentucky, making a rebuilding program pay off in one year, defeated Tennessee, 95-58, here tonight to win its seventh straight Southeastern Conference basketball crown.

The Wildcats, their championship forces wrecked by graduation a year ago, signaled a new reign of dominance in the conference that has been at its mercy down through the years.

A record-tieing production of 37 points by Bill Spivey, Kentucky's sensational seven-foot sophomore, was the biggest contribution to the Wildcats' title win, their 12th in 17 years of S. E. C. tourneys.

A packed Jefferson county armory crowd of 8,000, mostly Kentuckians yelling for a 100-point kill, watched Tennessee make an issue of the scrap for just half of the way.

It wasn't long after the second half opened that the volunteers were hopelessly out of contention.

Spivey's 37 points tied a record for the most points scored in a tournament game. The record was set a year ago by Alex Groza, Spivey's predecessor in the Kentucky pivot slot. Two free throws in the last seconds gave Spivey his total.

It was the sixth title meeting of the Wildcats and the Vols in 17 S.E.C. tournaments. Tennesse was the last team to beat Kentucky in a tourney game, turning the trick in the 1943 finals.

Kentucky has been winning the championships without interruption ever since. The six in a row they had won before tonight was a record.

The teams entered the showdown game under contrasting circumstances, Tennessee having to go into a bitterly fought overtime to outlast Louisiana State, 81-79, and Kentucky going it the easy way in its 79-63 survival over Georgia.

New tournament records were marked up in the Vol-L.S.U. scrap. The total points scored by both teams, a fat 160 points, shaded the old mark of 154 set last season when Tulane won from Georgia, 92-62.

L.S.U.'s 79 points were the most ever scored by a loser in tourney history, topping its own 63 in an 81-63 loss to Tulane a year ago.

One record came out of the Kentucky-Georgia game when 32 fouls were called against the Wildcats. Tennessee had tied the old mark of committing 29 in its semifinal victory.

Jerry Flynn, a substitute guard from Jeffersonville, Ind., just across the Ohio River from Louisville, was the hero of Tennessee's triumph. His short push shot with 15 seconds to play in the overtime frame, was good for the winning basket.

L. S. U. had scored seven points in 25 seconds to tie the score just before the regulation playing time ended. Tennessee fell five points behind in the overtime and had to score seven in 50 seconds to win.

Ed Montgomery paced the Vol victory with 24 points and Art Burris was eight behind with 16. Bob Meador led L. S. U. with 21.

Kentucky, obviously saving its strength for the title game, eased into a 35-29 halftime lead against Georgia and needed just ten minutes of the second half to build the lead it needed to coast. Coach Adolph Rupp let his regulars sit out the last ten minutes.

Bill Spivey scored 27 points, just ten short of the tourney record, before he was yanked, to lead Kentucky scoring. Jim Line got 17.

High for Georgia was Bob Healey with 18 points, one more than the total of teammate Bob Schloss.

Skeet Range Will Reopen Here Tuesday

The Monroe Skeet Club reopens its Plum street range here again today with expectations of turning in a season that will rival that of last summer which was acclaimed the greatest since shotgun artists turned to the sport here.

J. B. Thoman and S. K. Bernheim, who shared operation of the range last year, will jointly operate the setup here this season.

Thoman last night said considerable work has been done on the range to get it ready for the firing, and that a bigger and better range will be offered before the season is well started.

Shooting today is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

Often last year the firing was started around noon and a steady fire kept up until darkness halted the activity.

N. C. STATE ROUTS DUKE TO CAPTURE SOUTHERN CROWN

Wolfpack Wins In Conference Finals, 67-47; Looks For N. C. A. A. Bid

By Ken Alyta

DURHAM, N. C., March 4. — (AP) — North Carolina State, paced by Forward Sammy Ranzino's record-equalling 31-point performance whipped Duke, 67-47, tonight to win its fourth straight Southern Conference basketball championship. Although an official announcement was not expected until Monday, it was reliably reported that State would be invited to represent district three in the N. C. A. A. tournament in New York later in the month.

Ranzino, junior from Gary, Ind., bucketed 12 baskets on 30 shots and seven of eight foul shots to lead the wolfpack to its record-breaking feat on four straight titles. He scored his team's first 13 points in a tightly contested first half which ended with state ahead, 31-26.

inside BASEBALL TRAINING CAMPS

CARDINALS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4. —(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals need a powerful right-hand hitter to swing between Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter in the batting order, Manager Eddie Dyer said today.

And First Baseman Steve Bilko will get every chance to develop into that coveted power hitter, Eddie added.

As for the center field spot, Harry Walker, obtained from the Cincinnati Reds during the winter, will alternate with Charley Diering, Dyer said.

The comments came after Dyer's first full day with the squad. The manager was late getting to the camp because of illness.

DODGERS

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 4. — (AP) — In the first intra-squad game of the training season today the Brooklyn Dodgers, regulars beat the Yannigans, 11-3, scoring seven of their runs in the first inning off Joe Landrum, right-hander on the Ft. Worth roster. Their seven hits in that inning, included triples by Bobby Morgan, Duke Snider and Bruce Edwards and doubles by Eddie Miksis and Wayne Belardi, bonus first baseman.

Six pitchers worked three innings each with Erv Palica the winner and Landrum the loser. Palica would have escaped unscored on but for Snider losing Bill Antonello's long fly in the sun for a triple. Miksis hit a homer over the left field fence off Omar (Turk) Lown, in the eighth and Berlardi doubled home two more runs in that inning.

Score by innings:

Dodgers	700 000 130	11	15 0
Yannigans	100 000 002	3	5 3

Palica, Loes, Labine and Edwards; Landrum, Haugstad, Lown and Worley.

Tigers

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla., Mar. 4. — (AP) — Dick Wakefield, one-time slugger of the Detroit Tigers but whose batting average faded to mediocrity last year, served notice on aspirants for the New York Yankees' left field post today.

Having agreed to terms with General Manager George Weiss, Wakefield stepped up to the plate in the first round of batting practice and blasted two balls into the trees which separate Huggins Field from a lake.

"Looks like he means it," said Casey Stengel with a broad grin. Wakefield, Johnny Lindell, Gene Woodling, Jim Delsing, Hank hank Bauer, Cliff Mapes, and Jack Jensen are fighting for outfield jobs. Only one man seems sure of his position. His name's Josepr Paul DiMaggio.

The Yankees took two workouts again today but Stengel has promised them a slight breather tomorrow. They'll only have to work once Sunday afternoon.

PIRATES

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 4. —(AP)— Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Billy Meyer concentrated his worries on pitching today.

Of the 16 pitchers on the roster, only four now shape up in the starter class. They are Cliff Chambers, Murry Dickson, Bill Werle and Bob Chesnes.

Meyer figures that selecting six other hurlers from the remaining 12 is his biggest chore. He has some veterans like Mel Queen and Elmer Riddle and some other interesting rookies.

"Some of the rookies are impressive," Meyer said. "I like the performances of Royce Lint, former Indianapolis southpaw, and Bill McDonald."

McDonald is a bonus player from New Orleans of the Southern Association.

TIGERS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Tiger bats boomer today as the Detroit Club went through its first batting practice of the spring training session.

Some healthy clouting was contributed by George Kell, Vic Wertz, newcomer Gerry Priddy and Bonus Catcher Frank House with House drawing added praise for his stint behind the plate as receiver for Virgil Trucks.

General Manager Billy Evans arrived an hour after the practice started. He professed to be unworried about holdout pitchers Hal Newhouser and Fred Hutchinson.

PHILLIES

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 4. —(AP)—Manager Eddie Sawyer divided his Philadelphia Phils squad into two sections today for the first training samp game tomorrow.

Although the players have been in camp only four days, Sawyer said he believes they prefer actual competition, even if only among themselves, to cut and dried practice sessions.

ATHLETICS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Pitcher Carl Scheib of the Philadelphia Athletics got professional criticism from his favorite oldtime ball player—Chief Bender.

Bender, called by manager Connie Mack the greatest "money" pitcher ever to wear an A's uniform, watched Scheib warm up for ten minutes, then advised corrections.

Said Scheib:

"I wasn't lifting my left leg high enough on the windup and not following through after releasing the pitch. Maybe that's the answer to all my troubles."

Scheib won 9 and lost 12 last season.

GIANTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 4.—(AP)—Veterans and rookies will meet in the first intra-squad baseball game of the season at the New York Giants' training camp here tomorrow.

Manager Leo Durocher of the National League club has picked Andy Hansen, Sal Maglie, Rog Bowman and Kirby Higbe to do the hurling for the veterans. Clint Hartung, Monita Kennedy, Dave Koslo and Sheldon Jones will be on the mound for the rookies.

Durocher said today his starting pitcher in the opening exhibition game of the season next Saturday at Tucson, Ariz., against the American League Cleveland Indians will be Larry Jansen.

INDIANS

TUCSON, Ariz., March 4.—(AP)—Although Pitcher Bob Lemon has not yet signed his contract, he will captain one of the teams in the first intra-squad baseball game of the Cleveland Indians here tomorrow.

Manager Lou Boudreau so announced today.

Boudreau continued drilling his pitchers on pick-off plays today for the third day in a row. He also gave his charges their first taste of the sliding pit.

Powerful Luke Easter, Cleveland rookie, had Boudreau slightly concerned today over the life span of his own pitchers.

"The pitchers saw that terrific power of his," explained Lou, taking time out from practice, "and started wondering what would happen to them if he accidentally drilled one back through the box.

"They've been trying to give him nothing but inside pitches, to make sure he hits to right field."

Happiness Reigns In Braves' Camp With '49 Soreheads Among Missing

'New' Southworth Helps To Bring About Big Change In Boston

By Joe Reichler

BRADENTON, Fla., March 4. —(AP)—It's either a "New" Billy Southworth or a "New" Boston Braves team. Wherever the change, the manager and his players appear to be hitting it off like Damon and Pythias.

Southworth

The tension that filled the air at this training camp a year ago longer are the is gone. No players moody and reticent. No longer is the manager sharp and cryptic.

A visitor finds it hard to believe that this the same dissension-riddled club that forced its manager to take a two-months leave of absence last summer for fear of undergoing a nervous breakdown.

The writer was struck by the free and easy feeling among players that almost bordered on frivolity. Everybody here appears happy the players run through their drills as if they really enjoy them. You can't get them off the field at the end of the practice sessions.

The biggest change though, is in Southworth. Gone is that harried look that marked his appearance last year. He is friendly jovial and eager to please. He appears much closer to his charges. There is no doubt that he is out to make the players and writers forget the nightmarish 1949 season.

"This is the same Southworth I had known prior to last season," one veteran player observed "He's one of us now. He goes out of his way to say nice things to us. He's resorting to the pat-on-the-back method instead of stony silence.

"The best thing he's done though is to cut down on the workouts. He was too strict last year. It wasn't enough to work out all morning, but we had to come back for another session in the afternoon. The players resented it.

"This year he's divided the camp into two squads. One works out in the morning, the other in the afternoon. They alternate the next day."

Sir Gordon, Buddy Kerr and Willard Marshall, who came from the New York Giants in a gigantic winter trade, were amazed at the spirit of the club.

"I don't mind telling you I hated like the dickens to leave the Giants for Boston," Gordon said. "But now I'm really happy over the trade. The spirit here is marevlous.

"Of course I wouldn't know much about what went on here last year, but the boys tell me that the dissenters are all gone. Now it is one happy family.

"Southworth has been wonderful. He made us feel at home right from the start. I know I'll play my heart out for him. He's a great manager. His record speaks for itself.

"He's won pennants in St. Louis. Then he came to Boston and won a pennant there. Even with all that trouble, Boston still finished in the first division last year. Don't forget that."

Steeplechase Long Shot Finishes Lame In Trial

LONDON, March 4. — (AP) — Acthon Major, a highly regarded long shot for the Grand National Steeplechase, finished lame today in his final trial.

He came home second by three lengths to Dog Watch in a three mile chase at Haydock Park but was injured in jumping the final fence.

Columbia Shatters Holy Cross Record

NEW YORK, March 4.—(AP)—Columbia shattered Holy Cross' 29-game basketball winning streak tonight by downing the Crusaders, 61 to 54. Holy Cross' skein included three carryover games from last season.

It also marked the second time in three years Columbia ended Holy Cross' winning streak. Two years ago Columbia stopped a Crusader run at 26 games with a 60-53 upset.

Columbia had to overcome a 32-21 halftime deficit tonight.

The brilliant playmaking and shooting of Bob Cousy threw Columbia off balance at the outset. Cousy rang in 18 points before fouling out in the last minute. The output gave him a season total of 497 points, a new all-time Holy Cross mark.

Columbia, trailing 38-28 after seven minutes had elapsed in the second half, staged an 11-point surge to go ahead for keeps.

John Azary, Columbia's crack guard, started the ball rolling with a free toss. Norm Skinner added two field goals and another free throw. Azary then hit with a jump shot and Bob Sullivan's layup capped the drive that gave the Lions a 39-38 edge at the 10-minute mark.

Redleg Holdout Worries End As Kluszewski Signs

TAMPA, Fla., March 4. —(AP)— First Baseman Ted Kluszewski, the Cincinnati Reds' only holdout, agreed to terms today in a long distance telephone conversation with Redleg President Warren C. Giles.

Giles, in making the announcement of Kluszewski's agreement to terms, said he was pleased that the glib forst sacker was in the fold.

"Because of his weight (225 pounds), he can't afford to miss much practice," Giles said.

Kluszewski, who hit .309 for the Reds last season, is expected in camp next Tuesday.

MARYLAND CONFORMS

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 4.—(AP)—The University of Maryland today was found to be in compliance with the National Collegiate Athletic Association's "sanity code" and declared eligible for participation in all N. C. A. A. sports.

ROSS' DAUGHTERS LEAVE COURT

Foreman George Heller. Montgomery, defense attorney, asked that the jury vote be polled in open court.

The court was called to order at 10:10 a.m. The courtroom was one - third filled with spectators when the verdict was read two minutes later.

Ross's daughters, Mrs. Parker, Laveda Ross Harper and Hilda Faye Ross, and his young son, Joseph Hunter Ross, Jr., each greeted their father with a kiss as they entered the courtroom earlier yesterday morning. All the defendant's children were seated in the courtroom when the verdict was read aloud.

Ross was clad in a black suit, black tie and white shirt. On his right was his attorney, Madison, and his other attorney, Montgomery, was seated at the defendant's left.

Judge Gladney, after thanking the jury for their services, adjourned court at 10:33 a.m.

Ross, who had become emotional after adjournment, was ushered by parish deputies immediately to his cell atop the court house.

At the beginning of the state's argument at 7:05 p. m. Friday, district attorney Fuddickar smiled and began pointing out that the death "couldn't have been anything but murder, the way I see it."

In "reasoning" with the jurors, Fudickar pointed out that an eye witness, Mason Smith, had testified that he saw the defendant enter Kitchens' grocery walk behind the counter, pull out a revolver, and shoot Mr. Kitchens "in cold blooded murder."

The district attorney pointed out to the jury that when Kitchens' body was found there was a pencil in his hand.

Fudickar also brought out testimony from various state witnesses that Ross had threatened to kill the grocer on numerous occasions.

The district attorney concluded his argument at 8:15 p. m. by asking the jurors to find the defendant "guilty as charged," which carried with it a mandatory death penalty.

Defense Attorney Madison began his argument at 8:30 p. m. following a 15-minute recess.

Madison argued that Ross' inlaws, who were included as state witnesses, were enemies of the defendant and would like to see him killed. Madison also pointed out that "Joseph Hunter Ross did what any man would do to preserve his family." He referred to the unwritten law as a basis for killing, then added to it by "it's highly probable, as you have heard witnesses testify, that Ross shot Kitchens in self defense."

Madison ended his argument at 9:05 p. m. A minute later Montgomery was before the jury arguing in the defendant's behalf.

Montgomery told jurors that "Kitchens, as testified here before you, telephoned the defendant, Joseph Hunter Ross, and asked him to come over to the store, that he wanted to see him on business."

Then Montgomery pointed out that Kitchens drew a revolver from his belt and that Ross was forced to shoot the grocer or be shot.

The defense argument ended shortly after ten o'clock Friday night.

Fudickar, in rebuttal, confined his final argument to a few minutes, during which he asked the jurors "just to reason it out for yourselves, then find the defendant guilty as charged."

The highlights of the week-long trial were:

Monday : Selection of jurors began.

Tuesday: Jurors selected and Coroner J. T. French and Deputy Warren Seivers testified as to position of body when discovered and identified pictures taken at the scene. The pictures were introduced as evidence.

Wednesday morning: First full day of testimony started. Mason Smith told jurors he saw Ross shoot Kitchens while he was in the grocery purchasing groceries. He explained that Kitchens was "fixing to write a ticket out for me when Ross shot him."

Wednesday afternoon: District Attorney Fudickar impeaches a portion of the testimony given by a state witness, Leland Cox, who Ross summoned to him a few minutes after the murder. The district attorney argued that Cox had "surprised" him by not testifying as he had at the coroner's inquest and at the first trial. The portion of Cox's testimony impeached was in regard to when he (Cox) had first seen the revolver belonging to the dead grocer.

Thursday morning: Mr.and Mrs. A.J. Martin, in-laws of the defendant, testified that Ross had made several threats to kill Kitchens. Fudickar surprised defense attorneys with "key" witness, S.W. Barnett, local manufacturer of venetian blinds. Barnett testified that he was in the Martin home the day Kitchens was killed and heard Ross say: "I know about Kitchens and I'm going to kill that old ——— ———."

Thursday afternoon: State concluded its case against the defendant. As second witness for defense, the accused, Joseph Ross, wept bitterly as he told of his wife confessing to having had intimacy with Kitchens five times and of dating him on ten other occasions. He accused the district attorney of persecuting him.

Friday morning: Defense continues its case with testimony from Mrs. Lucille Harper, the defendant's sister-in-law; Virginia Ross Harper, his oldest daughter, and Milton Parker, Virginia's husband. They testified that the defendant had not threatened Kitchens life and that about five or ten minutes before the incident, Kitchens telephoned the Ross home and asked Milton Parker to tell Ross to come over to his store for a business discussion.

Friday afternoon: Defense witfesses continued to parade on stand. Among them were Laveda Ross Harper, and Hilda Faye Ross, the defendant's other two daughters; Thurmond Ross, nephew to the defendant, and Mrs. Bobby Jean Foy Telano. Ross's two daughters told jurors that their mother had made as many as five trips to Kitchens' store daily and sometime did not bring anything back home with her. "Mother would leave the store, they said, when anyone else went in it." Thurmond Ross said Kitchens called Ross to the store a few minutes before the shooting occurred. Mrs. Telano testified that she had seen Mrs. Ross and the grocer together at Dr A. G. Varino's office. "They were seated as close together," she explained, "as two people could." In rebuttal, Fudickar again surprises defense counsel with testimony from Ross' wife. She denied having been unfaithful to her husband and accused him of being cruel to her and of cursing around her daughters. She also implied that Ross had been going around with other women.

Friday night: Jury charged by Judge Gladney after state and defense attorneys argued the case for nearly three hours. Court was adjourned at 11:45 p.m.

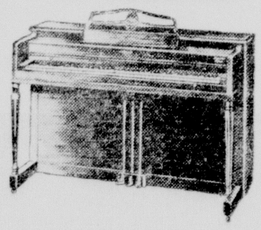

Saturday morning: Jury gives verdict at 10:12 a.m. Judge Gladney set date of sentencing for March 20th.

The main issues throughout the trial, as pointed out by attorneys, were: for the state: that Ross was jealous of his wife, that he listened too much to rumors, and that he acted only on suspicions; for the defense: that Ross shot Kitchens in self defense and that Mrs. Ross had been going out with the grocer. Those were the points which attorneys on both sides attempted to prove by the respective witnesses.

Furicker, quick-thinking and precise with his examination and cross examination, in many cases, ripped apart much of the testimony given by defense witness.

Ross, like most of the other persons appearing on the stand in his behalf, applied the term "tragedy" to Kitchens' death.

All flights are free and students will be taken on a fifteen minute ride covering a large area of the country. All students who plan on making a trip, must have a permission slip signed by one of their parents, or a guardian.

L. A. Harris, grocer out the Arkansas Rd., had public utilities place a new meter in his store. Just a month passed and in came his bill. He admits his heart is none too strong and it functioned faultily when he saw the bill which was for the gross sum of $121.50! One report is that he almost swooned away. But when he became more normal—at a later time—he called up the gas company and there is preserved no record of what he said. A man was sent to inspect the machine and it was found that the adjustment was all haywire and it could not be held responsible for its performances. Mr. Harris says the bill is now down to normal size and the meter seems to be registering in normal manner.

Joe Petagna is taking delight in watching the advancement of his grandson, Darrell C. Kent, 15, a third year student in University High School, Baton Rouge. Young Kent seems to have skill like his mother who is assistant editor of the official monthly publication of the Louisiana teachers' association. The young chap has just been awarded a first prize by the Times-Picayune for the best high school essay entitled: "Toward a Flood Proof America", and showed much thought and skill in its delineation. This is the fourth time he has won a prize for his literary ability. He was given the courtesy award by the Kiwanis club in Baton Rouge a year ago and also has been in receipt of the D. A. R. medal for the best essay on early American history.

Bob Harmon, Monroe; Harvey Gregg, Sterlington, J. Calloway, Rayville and L. E. Bowden, Mangham, have just returned from a nation-wide soil conservation convention in Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Harmon states that there were 1200 delegates and that each and every state in the union was represented. Incidentally Mr. Harmon has more time to go to conventions these days as he has just sold all but 50 acres of his big plantation south of Monroe and is now more interested in real estate than he is in plantation operating. Says it's less confining anyway.

(Heard over the phone at the News-Star—World office).

"Hello, hello, is this the News-Star—World? Yes, Well I don't want a Saturday World. I want today's paper," declared the speaker. This is Mrs. Jones—Gordon avenue." And ten minutes later she called again: "It's all on me this time. I thought it was Sunday morning and of course I wanted a Sunday paper, and the boy left a Saturday World. Now I looked at the calendar and Sunday is tomorrow! Please excuse my mistake!"

U. S. REFUSES TO TRIM LEGATION

Rejects Hungary's Request For Reducing Staff In Budapest

WASHINGTON, March 4. — (AP) — The United States indignantly rejected today a Hungarian suggestion that the American legation staff in Budapest be trimmed down on the ground that it is an anti-Communist spy nest.

The state department disclosed this by publishing the text of a strongly worded reply to a note which Communist Hungary sent to Washington February 23. The Hungarian note asked the United States to consider reducing the legation staff.

attributable to the fact that "we are a part of Louisiana State University."

The dean said, "My opinion as a school man is that the R.O.T.C. is one of the most important parts of the program of offerings and activities at N.J.C." He added "The faculty and staff take great pride in the fact that under leadership of Major McClary Capt. William A. Stephens, assistant P.M.S. and T., and several non-commissioned officers assigned to our unit, outstanding recognition has been accorded us by the War Department for the excellent work of our military unit."

The dean emphasized the interest which he felt public spirited citizens in this area would have in the official report of the "splendid achievements of the military part of N.J.C.'s training program."

SCHOLARSHIP

scholarship plan will be made by representatives of both.

Under the old scholarships, 12 Louisiana high school graduates have been provided with funds for a full four-year college education at L.S.U. with the university further enhancing the value of the awards by waiving all general fees. These were the most valuable scholarships ever offered at L.S.U. and the new journalism scholarship is believed to be the largest individual scholarship available at L.S.U annually.

The original trust fund of $35,000.00 established by the children of Colonel Ewing as a foundation for old scholarships becomes the new trust fund for the new awards, with its total increased somewhat by interest through the past years. It has not been drawn on either in interest or principal for the 12 four-year scholarships awarded, these being paid by The Times.

All of the four-year scholarships already awarded but not yet completed will be paid out in full. Four of the 12 students have been graduated, or will be graduated this year and will receive their cash awards of $500.00 per year for first place winners in the past essay contests and $350.00 per year for second place winners until they have completed their four-year courses.

All in all, the Ewing family will have put around $80,000.00 into L. S. U. scholarships when the present holders have been graduated, this total including the $35,000.00 trust fund, essay contest scholarship award, and special awards.

The rules and regulations for the new journalism scholarships as drawn by representatives of L. S.U. and the Ewing family are as follows:

1. The Robert Ewing Annual L. S. U. Journalism Scholarships shall be awarded by a scholarship committee which shall consist of the following: The president of the University or someone resignated by him, the president or his designee to be chairman of the committee; the dean of men of the University, the dean of women of the university, and two representatives of the department of journalism, these to be appointed by the president of the university.

2. The committee shall award one or more scholarships, as it sees fit, each year, the awards to be in cash from the earnings of the trust fund established for this purpose and the total awards in any year shall not exceed the earnings, available at that time. All available earnings may be awarded as one scholarship, or a division may be made into more than one scholarship. The committee shall have the right to make no award in any year if it feels that nominees for scholarships are not personally of the caliber desired for such valuable awards, in which case trust fund earnings for that year shall be available to increase the amount awarded in an individual scholarship or to increase the number of scholarships in the ensuing year or years.

3. Nominations for scholarships shall be made annually by representatives of the school of journalism, nominations to take place in the spring of each year, for the academic year following.

4. Only students who are (a) majoring in journalism; (b) have at least completed their sophomore year and been resident students at Louisiana State University for at least one year shall be eligible for these awards.

5. The minimum scholastic requirement shall be a B average, or 2.0 in quality credits.

6. Other qualifications to be considered by the committee are: character, probability of outstanding successin the field of journalism and a proper attitude toward American institutions and standards.

7. The committee shall establish such further rules of award that may become necessary at any time, but no rule may be established contrary to the rules herewith set down.

8. All decisions of the committee shall be by a majority of the whole committee.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB HAS PROGRAM MEETING

The program meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening, February 28, 1950, was sponsored by the Health and Safety Committee, Mae Modes, chairman.

The meeting had the pleasure of hearing a talk on safety by Mr. D. H. Brown, safety engineer of the United Gas Pipe Line company who gave some interesting statistics on the enormous loss of human lives and property through accidents in the home, at work and on the highways in the United States. He said that by education, beginning with school children, and the elimination of harmful agents of danger, many such accidents could and would be avoided. He told of the program his company pursues in the education of its employees to avoid accidents of all kinds, the knowledge of first aid acquired by employees, all of which helps in avoiding accidents resulting in loss of lives and property. Mr. Brown's talk was very interesting and was greatly apppreciated by the members present.

Following Mr. Brown's talk, Mr. Monty McGee of Station KNOE entertained with songs and piano selections and same were thoroughly enjoyed and applauded.

The members then adjourned to the dining room, where refreshments were served, and Miss Helen McDaniels, a prospective bride, was surprised with a bridal shower of gifts of china, crystal, silver and linens. Miss McDaniels was very pleased and gracious in accepting the gifts and all present wished her joy and happiness in her approaching marriage.

LOTTIE LOUISE LEE, OF TALLULAH, HONORED AT ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

Mrs. W. L. Rountree, Mrs. B. D. Capshaw and Mrs. Edward Williams entertained on Saturday afternoon with a lovely announcement party complimentary to Miss Lottie Louise Lee whose forthcoming marriage to Catchings Baird Smith is of affectionate interest to many friends here

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Capshaw and Mrs. Williams, each wearing gowns of black taffeta with gold trimming and white carnation corsages. Miss Barbara Jean Sevier, wearing lime green chiffon with white carnations, stood within the doorway and presented each guest with a tiny card bearing the inscription, "Wedding bells will ring for Lottie Louise and Catching Baird on April 29". Photographs of the couple in heart shaped frames of dainty white flowers placed on a low table with the announcement cards further proclaimed the coming nuptials.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Rountree, who wore an evening model of orchid sheer and plum colored taffeta Miss Lee, the bride elect, in forest green taffeta with white carnations in her hair, Mrs. Lee in toast colored lace, Mrs. Smith, mother of the groom elect, in gray crepe and Mrs. Pierson, grandmother of the bride in aqua lace and crepe. They each wore corsages of Dutch iris. Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Henry C. Sevier in gray crepe and Mrs. A. L. Sevier Sr., who presided in the dining room, wore gray lace over green

The refreshment table with its linen cover of Mexican drawn work, had as a centerpiece a beautiful arrangement of white carnations, stock and snow drops with sprays of candytuft, under a silver arch from which was suspended two silver wedding bells tied with white ribbons. At one end stood a silver candelabra holding three tall white tapers. Delicious iced punch, individual cake slices embossed with a delicate flower and dainty open faced sandwiches in the shapes of hearts, flowers and wedding rings were served. Tea girls who assisted in the service were Mrs. Trent Palmer, Mrs. Andrew L. Sevier Jr., and Mrs. Jim Folk who wore gowns in pastel shades and white carnations. Tall silver candelabra holding white tapers stood at either end of the buffet and between them was a bowl of white spirea and stock. Camellias and purple magnolias were placed at vantage points in the reception room and on the piano was a lovely arrangement of white spirea and daisies.

A hundred and seventy-five guests called during the appointed hours and signed the register which the bride will keep as a souvenir of the happy event.

NEWS FROM THE GIRL SCOUTS

A visit to the Monroe Central Fire Station was an exciting event in the lives of members of Brownie Troop 24 Mrs. M. Bagwell, leader. Mrs. Ollie Carter accompanied Mrs. Bagwell on this outing. Troop members stated that they couldn't remember when they'd ever had a better time! This good time can be credited to Mr. Frantom, who really gave them their biggest treat . . . his permission to slide down the pole!! Believe us, there wasn't a shy little Brownie in the group, for every one of them whizzed down that pole like a veteran. Mr. Frantom also showed them how fire alarms are received and dispatched, they scrutinized the trucks pumps, bells and poles, also saw the firemen's sleeping quarters. Members of this troop are Patricia Ann Bagwell, Janis May Bates Betty Carolyn Carter, Carolyn Marie Wilhite, Joyce Ann Hale, Nancy May and Andrea Oglesby.

Mrs. H. A. Gentry gave a demonstration on table setting at the last meeting of Troop 28, at the home of their leader, Mrs. Clay Albright. Mrs. Gentry also discussed hostess etiquette, courtesies and manners, and guest etiquette, courtesies and manners. This troop is working on their hostess badge. Following a business meeting, punch and cookies were served by a troop member. Sylvia Gentry and Kay Worley were guests of the troop at this meeting.

We'll be glad to see some of our Intermediate troops taking part in the Red Cross parade next Wednesday. The parade is in connection with the Red Cross drive begining this week. All troops participating will be in uniform.

Troop 19, Mrs. O. B. Copeland and Mrs. W. E. Chitty, leader and co-leader respectively, are a newly registered troop and we welcome them heartily to the girl scouts of Ouachita parish. Troop 19 will have its investiture ceremony March 10, at the Lida Benton School, and will also take this time to celebrate the Girl Scout anniversary with a birthday party. Cake and punch will be served. We know they'll enjoy their celebration, especially with their shiny new Brownie pins adorning their uniforms.

Mrs. DeMott Fisk is a familiar visitor to troop meetings these days, teaching songs to be sung at the "Scouts Own." program next Sunday, March 12, at the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, 2:30 p.m. Records of these songs are in constant use by troops, so that by the time the "big day" has arrived, everyone should know them pretty well and the group singing on the program will surely be enthusiastic. The singing will be led by Mrs. Henry Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Norman Coon. Just for the record, the "Scouts Own" program is in commeration of the 38th anniversary of the first girl scout troop ever organized in the United States—that makes it 'way back March 12, 1912! Everyone's invited and the program promises to be very interesting, so all you parents, friends, and relatives of girl scouts back us up and let's "jam the rafters!"

DR. MARY MIMMS, GUEST SPEAKER AT CURRENT LITERATURE CLUB TEA

The Current Literature Club extended invitations to the Home Demonstration Clubs and friends of the Twin Cities and surrounding communities, to a tea, at which time they were privileged to hear Dr. Mary Mimms, of Batron Rouge, La., who was guest speaker. The tea was held in the auditorium of the Agriculture Department Building, West Monroe, on Wednesday afternoon.

Lovely Spring flowers were used in abundance. Mrs. Hilton Owens presided at the tea table. Mrs. Z. T. Ambrose rendered several lovely Piano selections during the social hour. Much interest was displayed in the fashion show, which consisted of some fifteen or more ladies modeling suits, coats and dresses, which they had made in the tayloring classes Mrs. Mildred Swift has conducted throuout the winter. True art and perfect workmanship was displayed in these garments.

Dr. Mims holds a very affectionate place in the hearts of the ladies of the TWIN Cities and is always an interesting and entertaining speaker. In her address of the afternoon she said in part "we are thinking of a man whose birthday we are celebrating today. A truly great man. A man whose great life and principles will live in the hearts of our country as long as we have a country. That man was George Washington, known as the Father of our country, our first President. When I ask you ladies to think with me for a few moments of "the fundamentals of Home Life" I would say to you that without a home we would not have had a George Washington. The qualities that made him a great man were nurtured and developed in the home. Great love and wise guidance thru childhood developed these qualities. We would think also of other great men of our country Abraham Lincoln, Robert E. Lee, and many many more. All of these great men enjoyed great homes. Not always from the sense of material values but from the sense of great spiritual values. Truths that were taught these men in the homes were the things that made them great. "Home is where your heart is" That is a little slogan we often hear. Mothers of today I would offer you suggestions to be used in building the right kind of a home for your boys and girls. First give your children love, a sense of being wanted and needed. Give them responsibility. Every child should be taught to do things. Let them have certain daily chores around the home. Let them feel their part in making the home function. Give your children recreation, wholesome recreation. Provide a place for your children to enjoy the fellowship of their friends, enter into their pleasures and let them feel that you are interested. You rural mothers have so much to appreciate in the rearing of your children out there in the community where everything they come in contact with can be used to create something for your childrens pleasure and benefit. The child of the city too often turns to the man made toy of his pleasure. Leaving out that great joy of building things for himself, from god's great store house of materials. Then I would not for a moment leave out Spiritual training in the home. Mothers let your children grow up feeling, knowing God in the home. "Bring up the child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it" Not that he might not wander off at times from your training, but in later life when your child is grown, building his own home, then will he remember and turn back to the teachings he received in his home. I want to give you this little poem. Take it home with you, meditate upon it. Make it your thought for the day.

promise of Spring.
In the little blue egg is the bird that will sing
In the heart of the seed is the hope of the sod.
If we save our homes our country and the soul of Our youth. Then, all must be planted in the Kingdom of God.

MISS LOUISE TATUM BRIDE OF ROBERT EARL BARHAM, JR.

A wedding of great interest to the wide circle of friends of both families was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Oak Ridge, Sunday, February 5, when Miss Louise Tatum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tatum, became the bride of Robert Earl Barham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barham.

At the conclusion of the regular morning worship service, Miss Carolyn McDaniel played an interlude of nuptial music preceeding the entrance of the bridal party. Miss McDaniel used the traditional wedding marches and played softly during the ceremony "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Miss Rachel Tatum was her sister's only attendant. She wore a modish navy blue crepe dress with a spring felt hat of ashes of roses. Her corsage was of white camellias with soft pink ribbons.

The groom had as his best man his brother, William Barham. The Rev. Loyd Lane, pastor of the church, officiated.

After receiving congratulations and best wishes from family and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Barham left for a wedding trip to Dallas, Texas and New Orleans.

Mr. Barham served in the European war theatre, where he received a purple heart and bronze star award and five campaign stars. He is superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school and a member of the board of deacons. Mrs. Barham also takes a prominent part in local religious activities.

The young couple are now in their own home in Oak Ridge.

Harrisons Maintain That Key To Happy Marriage Is Common Interests, Sense

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer, who should know about such things, think that there's no reason why two successful actors can't have a successful marriage, if—

"If they have common interests," said Lilli.

"If they have common sense," said Rex.

The Harrisons, one of the theater's first couples, have both. And they just celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary, proving that the formula works.

Their comfortable apartment in a nice, but not ritzy, section of New York is obviously the home of a happy family. In and out of the warm, friendly living room trots their tow-headed, two-gun-totin', 5 1-2 year-old son, Carey, pursued by a grim governess.

One wall of the room is a tremendous bookshelf, loaded with books that look like they've been read. On the other walls are carefully-framed paintings, by such varied artists as Picasso and Grandma Moses. In the center of the room is a huge, old, round table, surrounded by comfortable chairs.

Rex likes to perch on the arm of the chair Lilli sits in, swinging a foot and gesturing expressively with a long cigarette holder. He's the tweed-and-sweater type, while Lilli is a slacks lover, except when there's company. Then she quickly switches to afternoon dresses.

"I've been painting all afternoon," she said, lighting a cigarette for Rex. "I love to paint. I took it up in self-defense. Rex is a great fisherman, and he fishes for hours. Now when he goes fishing, I go with him. He fishes and I paint. We spend glorious days in the country."

Broadway's Cleopatra — she's now starring in a revival of Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra"— may be a seductive Oriental charmer on stage, but in her own home she's a quiet girl who likes to talk about the days when she and Rex first met.

Both the Harrisons were stars when they were introduced. The day after their first meeting, they met again at a private zoo. Lilli, who confesses to a great love for animals, went into the snake house.

"I picked up a boa constrictor and put it around Rex's neck. I hate people who jump back 10 feet whenever they see a snake. But Rex stood there calmly, smoking a cigarette. I thought to myself, 'Well, he must be a decent sort.' "

Since their marriage, they've made a point to avoid lengthy separations. Their hatred of being apart even entered their movie contracts. Lilli had a clause in hers that allowed her to give 60 days' notice if Rex was to leave Hollywood. She had to invoke it, too.

About the only thing they disagree on is music.

"I love swing music," says Rex, "and Lilli loves classical. But we both like to listen to the other type, too."

"Almost all our interests are mutual," Lilli said, moving to another chair, with Rex following. "We read scripts together, we go to shows together, we read the same books, we do everything together.

"I don't think we've ever disagreed in a reaction. If I like one part of a play, I know Rex will, too. If I think another part is in bad taste, I know Rex will, too. It's automatic."

Nowadays, with Lillie working and Rex not, he calls for her at night after her performance. They generally go out for supper afterwards, and consequently get up late.

"We talk a lot while Rex shaves in the morning," says Lilli. "I find it a perfectly wonderful time for serious conversation."

Afternoons, she tries to do some painting and he reads scripts. Besides looking for one for himself, he hopes to find a play that they can do together next season.

"Only it wants to be a modern play," he said. "We'd both like a change. We've been regal too long."

They "assemble again," as Lilli puts it, for dinner. And they spend the early hours of the evening with Carey, whose only fault is that he has trouble tieing his tie. Then she goes to the theater, and Rex reads or goes to the movies.

While they love the theater and their careers, it does have disadvantages, they realize. Chief drawback is the lack of privacy. No matter where they go, they're recognized, and their comings and goings are grist for the gossip-writers' mills.

"We never go anywhere alone any more," Rex said. "Why, even if I go out to lunch with my mother, a story will show up that mother and I are going steady."

Officer Helps Mother In Delivering Baby

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Policeman Clifton I. Panciera was directing traffic. A woman came up and told him her daughter was about to have a baby.

Panciera tried to flag a cab to take her to the hospital. But they were all full. So he gave a boy a dime to telephone for an ambulance.

He went to the home and found the baby was due to arrive any minute, which it did, with Panciera doing "what they told me in rookie school."

Democracy Is Minority In West German State

BY LEON DENNEN
(NEA Staff Writer)

FRANKFURT, Germany — (NEA) —The real democratic forces in West Germany are a distinct minority but there is still reason to hope they may become a potent factor in German life.

In the nearly five years of Allied occupation, progress in spreading the gospel of democracy has been slight. On the vital question of what has been done to teach democracy to German youth, neither German nor occupation authorities can give a concrete answer.

Schools and universities in the western republic have thus far failed to seize their opportunity to re-educate the nation. Pursuing their familiar reactionary and unimaginative course, they go on as though nothing has happened since Hitler's fall. They employ the same old instructors on the same teaching programs top-heavy with narrow specialization.

A university professor who was busy eight months ago weeding Nazis out of his faculty told me this time that "As long as these people are competent there is no reason why they should be fired."

Beyond making occasional suggestions, U. S. officials in Germany are doing nothing on education. The current American policy calls for little or no intervention in the new republic's internal affairs, so theirs are effectively tied.

Early in the occupation period many officials assumed German youth would begin to grasp democracy's meaning if they could catch the flavor of American life through such favorite symbols as baseball, Coca-Cola and chewing gum. The youngsters sampled these things, but democracy left them still puzzled.

A 15-year-old lad told me two years ago: "Democracy is superior to Nazism because it wins wars." On this visit his slant had shifted: "Democracy is superior to Nazism because it may yet help us win the war we lost."

Keen observers of the German scene emphasize that democracy is not developed in a vacuum. A professor from the U. S. is not automatically equipped to teach democratic ways to Germans. He must know their history and the social, economic and political background against which they live.

Many careful students of Germany insist democracy has little chance to flourish there until that social framework is altered to broaden the participation of the average German in his country's affairs.

A high American official who declined to be named asked: "Why doesn't someone tell the American people that what we are trying to establish in Germany is not democracy but the pre-Hitler conditions which never worked and will not work?"

He was referring to the lack of balance in the German economy which keeps the laboring man and the ordinary white collar worker in depressed circumstances. In that situation the working German is in no mood to listen to the wonders of democracy. Instead he is ripe for the glib promises of a Hitler or Tito.

Dr. Kurt Schumacher, leader of the Social Democrats, said it this way: "The reconstruction of Germany in favor of the bankers and industrialists and at the expense of the working people would only help the Russians and lead to another world disaster."

He pleads for economic democracy first — a decent break for the German worker — coupled with just solution of the the critical problems in the Saar and Ruhr industrial valleys.

Georg Reuter, president of the Trade Union Federation of Western Germany, said the anti-Communist trade unions must be given some economic power, some control over Ruhr industries especially, if the new state is to remain in the democratic lineup. The 5,000,000 unionists in western zones are the core of sincere democracy there.

It is the view of pro-West people that these forces are the ones the western nations must support and strengthen to lead West Germany away from growing nationalist extremism toward democratic paths.

The West's task is complicated by the lack of able, courageous leaders in the West German republic. The present Bonn Parliament is a strange mixture of pre-Nazi civil servants, churchmen, nationalist adventurers, and a limited sprinkling of competent, realistic political figures.

Too many of the Bonn deputies are handicapped further by age. Professor Theodore Heuss, president of the republic, is 67. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is 74. Schumacker, at 55, qualifies as one of the youngest of the democratic-minded men of Germany. Not much hope here of men who can stir the imagination of youth with visions of a glorious democratic future.

But if those leaders are not found or developed, if the real democrats are not given every aid by the West, then the chances are great that West Germany will slip down the road to some new form of totalitarianism.

It won't be called Nazism. It may even use the language and symbols of democracy. But it will have many old ingredients, with perhaps some new one borrowed from Moscow.

The tide is running that way in West Germany today, and it will take great effort by the U. S. and the rest of the West to reverse it.

Turner's Ear Tells When Plane Is Safe

By Leo Marks
AP Newsfeatures

TULSA, Okla. — C.M. Hefner claims the distin ion of being able to tune an airplane by ear.

Hefner, a soft-spoken West Virginian, is chief engineering test pilot at the American Airlines central maintenance depot here.

He and his crew check an average of 10 airliners a week before the passenger and freight craft resume service.

Hefner testing one of the sky giants resembles an owner of a new automobile looking for squeaks.

"After you fly these planes for awhile you can almost sense trouble before it starts to develop," he says. An unaccountable noise may mean potential disaster, and Hefner ought to know. He has 13,200 hours flying time, some of it collected on the regular run between Fort Worth, Memphis and New York.

Once every three months or 1,100 hours in the air each plane on the nationwide system must go through the local depot.

Hefner's routine follows this pattern:

First, a minute inspection of the craft on the ground-in-side and out.

Second, the ship is taxied up a runaway and prepared for flight. The motors are revved up and a special attention is paid to gauges, controls, radio and other equipment.

Then comes the actual flight test. Landing gear and flaps are kept down longer than usual. The instrument panel is closely scrutinized. His co-pilot calls out to Hefner the various readings from maze of dials. Another crew member writes them down on a form sheet.

Excess vibration or engine malfunctions are listened for carefully during the climb. At 4,000 feet in a DC-6, 8,000 feet in a Convair, they level off for a two-hour cruise.

The plane's speed is watched now. If there's a discrepancy fron normal, even as little as five miles an hour, it goes back for a ground inspection. Instruments are read again during banks and turns.

Sometimes Hefner and his men find trouble. Fifty per cent of the planes pass their first test flight; 40 per cent are overhauled and returned for another check; 10 per cent require three or more.

Assisting Hefner are First Officer Herb Milton, Capt. Thorn Wagner and his first officer, Vern Brown. They alternate flights, accompanied by several mechanics. All are veterans on the job.

LANDS BIG OTTER

Shown above is the 23-pound mammal that was struck by the auto driven by E. B. McKnight on the Milhaven road early Thursday morning. The otter was endeavoring to cross the highway but was run down by the car and injured fatally. It was carried to the McKnight home where it died shortly after arriving. Otters are said to be rare in this region. This one was more than 5 feet in length and the fur was of a lustrous brown. It inhabits America generally but is more plentiful in Canada, and is rare when found on the Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico. (News-Star—World Photo by Marvin DuBos.)

Ex-Senator From West Carroll Parish Conferred With Honor

By Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La.—(Special) Ninety-one-year-old Joseph E. Ransdell last Sunday was honored at a dinner here and conferred the Papal distinction of "Knight Commander" of the Order of Saint Gregory the Great.

The former U. S. senator, who served as a legislator for 32 years and did much to promote the Carville leprosorium the national congress for rivers and harbors and the national institute of health was cited as 'having brought great honor and prestige to Lake Providence."

The Most Reverend Charles Paschal Greco, D. D., Bishop of Alexandraia, commended the senator for his many years of loyal service and devotion especially throughout the years that the Ku Klux Klan flourished in Louisiana and the Soutland.

Bishop Greco pointed out that Senator Ransdell was repeatedly returned to congress from an area of the state where only one percent of the voters were Catholic. He praised the American people for their fair mindness and appreciation of one's loyalty to duty whether of their faith or not.

Ransdell was later termed "a great servant of God and the people of Louisiana" by the Bishop.

More than 200 friends and churchmen of northeast Louisiana were guests of St. Patrick's congregation at the dinner honoring Senator Ransdell.

Speaking at the dinner, Judge Frank Voelker of the sixth judicial district, asserted "this is a unique occasion, the average person rarely receives such recognition or has an accolade bestowed upon him during his lifetime."

Judge Voelker pointed out, "Senator Ransdell has brought great honor to our little town. His reputation as a statesman has brought prestige to his hometown and for this we can be appreciative."

A number of years ago Senator Ransdell was made a Knight of St. Gregory. The order of St. Gregory the Great is a pontifical order of Knighthood founded by Pope Gregory XVI in 1831. There are civil and military divsions and each is ranked into Grand Cross Knights of the first and second class, commanders and knights.

"This order is bestowed in recognition of distinguished service to the church," Judge Voelker said.

"We honor a man already loaded with honors and prestige," Judge Voelker said, "a man who today is in his 92nd year of fruitful living, one who despite his many years of useful service is still working day by day for the betterment of the community in which he lives."

Msgr. John C. Marsh, pastor of St. Matthews church in Monroe read the English translation of the Papal rescript. Charles F. Zimmer was master of ceremonies.

Msgrs. John Vandegaer of Natchitoches and Roy Aycock of Alexandria, former pastors at St. Patrick commended Senator Ransdell for his humbleness, helpfulness to his fellowmen in dividing his large land holdings in East Carroll parish into tracts and selling them to small farmers whom he financed and assisted in inaugurating the first colored Catholic congregation in Lake Providence.

The Catholic church and school of 1925 and today was compared by Msgrs. Marsch who pointed out that Senator Ransdell was a native of Rapides parish and was a former class mate of his mother.

Overcome with emotion Senator Ransdell asserted, "I am too full for utterance. This is the greatest honor of my almost 92 years. I came to East Carroll Parish 67 years ago and the people here have been good to me. What I have been able to accomplish has been through the assistance of my friends here and throughout the state."

The dinner honoring the East Carroll Senator was sponsored by the Associated Catholic Men's clubs of northeast Louisiana and T. P. Coenen, of Rayville and his brother, W. R. Coenen. During the evning a play, "Television Scenes" was presented by pupils of St. Patrick's school.

It was pointed out that Senator Ransdell's next nonor will be his 100th birthday.

The boyhood home of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Abilene, Kansas was dedicated as a national shrine June 22, 1947.

DAN TRIMBLE GETTING WINGS

Monroe Midshipman Successfully Completes Air Training Command

Navy wings of gold now adorn the uniform of Midshipman Dan M. Trimble of the United States navy. Having successfully achieved requisites to culminate training in the Naval Air Training Command, Dan was recently designated a "Naval aviator" at a ceremony held at the Pensacola Naval Air Station by Vice Admiral John W. Reeves, Jr., USN, Chief of naval air training.

Upon graduation from Ouachita Parish High School at Monroe, La. in 1946 he entered the Navy V-5 program and attended Northeast Jr. College at Monroe, Louisiana to study aeronautical engineering.

His active training began in June, 1948 when he reported to the U. S. naval school, pre-flight at Pensacola, Florida, "The Annapolis of the air", where he succeeded in completing a strenuous schedule in military, academic and physical training.

From pre-flight Dan was advanced to the naval air basic training command.

This phase of training consisted of four divisions: primary, aerobatics and instruments, gunnery and tactics, and climaxed by six take-offs and landings in his SNJ "Texan" trainer aboard the warfamed carrier, USS Cabot, known to navy men as the "Iron Lady".

Midshipman Trimble was then prepared for advanced training at Corpus Christi, Texas. This was a four month syllabus in combat type aircraft and final aircraft carrier qualification in fighter type planes. Graduation from advanced training has won him the coveted navy wings of gold.

Midshipman Dan Trimble

Deborah Warren, 10-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Warren of West Monroe was winner in a recent baby contest sponsored by the Ransom school first grade.

Dan expects to receive orders to air command for duty as an officer and aviator in the United States navy.

He is the son of Mrs. C. E. Street of 2709 So. Grand, Monroe, Louisiana.

Dan has a brother, W. W. Trimble, captain in the U. S. air force now stationed in Germany and another brother, Jack D. Trimble, former pilot in the USAF who is with the American aircraft in Dallas, Tex.

Memories Live In Miniatures At Kane, Pa.

BY ROBERT M. SUNDY

KANE, Pa. — Rostan Village is a pretty little community in northwest Pennsylvania with churches, stores, a post office and a bank — but you'll never find it on a map.

Nobody lives in Rostan. Yet the town has had hundreds of visitors since it was founded three years ago.

It is the creation in miniature of Joseph Rostan, a retired grocer, who found that raising chickens and growing flowers wasn't enough to keep him busy.

Rostan came to this mountain town with his wife in 1946 to seek relief from an asthmatic condition.

The little town in Rostan's back yard is a village of memories for the talented builder — almost a biography in itself. Every structure is a reproduction of a building which played an important part in Rostan's life. Prominent among these is the church from his native village in Yugoslavia, where Rostan was baptized. Also present is the chapel from the cemetery of that village.

"The churches really bring back memories," commented Rostan. "I started out there as an organist."

When the Rostans came to America they settled near Pittsburgh and soon started operating a restaurant at Langeloth, Pa. Later Rostan was the first postmaster of Slovan, Pa. Then for 25 years he operated a grocery store at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

In the miniature village, electrically lighted at night, you will find the store from Saranac Lake, built to scale as are all the buildings. There's the post office from Slovan, a town hall like Saranac's, a bank, a hotel, a shrine and various homes.

MISS JUANITA CHAPMAN BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. SAM THOMAS, JR.

One of the loveliest weddings of the new year was that of Miss Juanita Chapman and Mr. Sam Thomas, Jr., which was celebrated on Sunday, February 12, at 2:30 in the afternoon at the Jonesboro Baptist Church. Reverend John Hurt, pastor, officiated in the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chapman of Jonesboro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomas, Sr. of Quitman.

Forming a beautiful setting for the exchange of nuptial bows were floor standards of white gladioli and stock against a background of Woodwardia fern illumined by the soft light of white cathedral tapers which burned in graduated floor candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony a concert of organ music was rendered by Mrs. D.Q. Madden, who also accompanied the soloist, Miss Esther Martin, as she sang "Calm As The Night", and "I Love Thee" by Greig, and at the conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte. The organist played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional, and rendered "Claire de Lune" softly during the exchange of vows. For the candle-lighting service, the "Indian Love Call" was played.

Candle-lighters were Misses La-Nell Daricek and Janis Dennis who wore identical, floor-length gowns of poudre blue net over taffeta. Their flowers were a bandeau of daisies in their hair.

The bride, given in marrige by her father, was strikingly lovely in a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and net over white satin that combined traditional simplicity with modern charm. The bodice was fashioned of the lace into a tight-fitting basque with long, fitted sleeves tapering to lily points over the hands. The full-hooped skirt featured pointed inserts of lace and net which formed deep scallops. Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion was gathered to a circlet of orange blossoms. Her only adornment was a pearl necklace which was a gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies centered by a white orchid.

Miss Janet Littlefield of Hodge, was maid of honor and little Miss Patsy Chapman was her sister's junior maid. Other bridal attendants were Miss Carolyn Tait and Miss Patricia Poole. They all wore identical gowns of net over taffeta in harmonizing pastel shades and each carried a nosegay which was outlined with a lacy edge to match each gown.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Mr. Harold Thomas, of Quitman, and the groomsmen were L.B. Brashier, Edward Hughes, Kenneth Leppich and Lamont Phillips.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. In greeting the guests in the entrance hall there were members of the bridal party and the parents of the bride and groom. Mrs. Chapman wore a smart two-piece dress of navy ribbon sheer crepe with wide white lapels of hand - drawn pique. She wore navy accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Thomas wore a seasonal gown of teal crepe which featured a long waistline outlined in trapunto design. Her accessories were of black and she wore a pink corsage.

Mrs. O.V. Allen, Sr. and Mrs. John R. Chapman were beautifully dressed for their grand-daughter's wedding in fashionable gowns. Mrs. Allen wore gray with a pink floral design and a pink corsage. Mrs. Chapman wore black with a white pique trim and a white corsage. Mrs. Montgomery, of Shreveport, grandmother of the groom, wore a black and harmonizing print redingote with all black accessories.

One of the outstanding floral arrangements used in the reception suite was a bowl of white stock and gladioli arranged with purple magnolia blossoms which centered the mantle in the living room. The mantle was banked with fine greenery which featured white satin streamers interwoven among its fronds. Another attractive arrangement was of white tulips and candytuft.

The bride's table was overlaid with an imported cutwork cloth with white satin streamers crossing in the center. The streamers were held to each corner of the cloth with clusters of tiny white blossoms and fern. The ends of the streamers were caught into folds which reached almost to the floor. The central arrangement featured a silver candelabra which held eight white tapers. White satin ribbon and clusters of the same white flowers and fern were arranged around the candelabra. Sprays of greenery and white blossoms encircled the cake stand and crystal punch service. Mrs. E.L. Mobley poured punch. She was handsomely gowned in an original model of black crepe which featured the low square-cut neckline. The smart simplicity of the dress was accentuated with suitable jewelry and she wore a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Paul Bourg, wearing an antique rose dress with a bead trim and a white corsage, presided at the cake service. The tiered wedding cake was elaborately embossed and each tier was outlined with crystalized sugar pearls. A minatured bride and groom topped the confection. Assisting in the serving courtesies were Mrs. Mary Rosamond and Mrs. Dino Alberti.

Immediately following the reception, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to New Orleans and points in Mississippi. On their return they will be at home in Jonesboro.

It's The Red Cross Coming!

Every day Americans who want to help and Americans who need help are brought together through their Red Cross. The Red Cross work of mercy will never end so long as there are those who want to help. Do your share—give through your Red Cross.

No lights, power, water . . . hospitals destroyed . . . communication lines down . . . transportation disrupted . . . badly injured need immediate medical care . . . medical supplies destroyed . . . some of city leaders injured . . . many of the citizens dazed by the disaster . . .

In such areas of panic and confusion the Red Cross immediately goes into action and provides food, clothing, shelter, and medical care. The resources of Red Cross chapters are supplemented when necessary by the national organization. And during the heart-breaking period of rebuilding from wreckage, your Red Cross continues to aid families unable to meet their own needs.

Give today so Your Red Cross

NEWS FROM THE PARISH LIBRARY

On the morning of March 1 the board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library met to hear the report of the librarian, Miss Frances Flanders regarding the activities of the library during the month of February. The members of the board are Mrs. A. G. McHenry, chairman, Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Clifford M. Strauss, Mrs. John Bishop Johnston, Jr. and Mr. A.E. Montgomery. In February 319 new borrowers were added to the registration rolls of the library. Of this number 146 were adults and 173 were children. Every citizen of Ouachita Parish is entitled to use the library. If you are not doing so, you are missing an excellent opportunity for pleasure and education.

In February the 15,244 borrowers of the library read 18,278 books. This averages more than one book per borrower. However many people read a much greater number than that and some borrowers did not come to the library at all.

The outstanding activity of the month was the formal opening and dedication of the Carver Branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. The branch has been in existence for a year, but the new building has just been completed. Funds for constructing this building were raised by the colored Chamber of Commerce. It is located at the corner of North 10th and Adams. It is a most attractive building. Every person in Ouachita Parish is invited to go by and see it. The Monroe Garden Club, of which Mrs. Kent Breard is president, is planning the landscaping of the grounds. Anyone who has plants to contribute is urged to call her or Mrs. A. G. McHenry.

In February 510 books were added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Of this number 454 were purchased and 56 books were gifts to the library. Gifts of books in good condition are always appreciated by the library. 161 of the books added were adult books and 349 were children's books. Many of the adult books were duplicate copies for the various branches. Books that are not in great demand are added to the Monroe collection only, but may be borrowed by any of the branches. SUBJECT ON MARCH 9TH: "HENRY VIII AND THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND."

STOCK LAW IS URGED BY P.-T. A.

Council Goes On Record Asking Action By State Legislature

The Twin-City council P. T. A. went on record at its regular March meeting approving the following resolutions:

WHEREAS it is a matter of common knowledge that in certain portions of the state of Louisiana live stock are allowed to roam at large over and across the highways of the state of Louisiana, and

WHEREAS the loss of life from accidents resulting directly from the presence of such livestock on said highways has reached such serious proportions as to make traveling within such areas of great danger to the traveling public, and

WHEREAS at previous sessions of the legislature of the state of Louisiana bills have been introduced but failed of passage, prohibiting the running of livestock at large on said highways, and

WHEREAS this body feels that the continued presence of livestock upon such highways constitutes and is an unwarranted danger to motorist and should be prohibited by action of the legislature of the state of Louisiana.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that this body does now request the state Parent-Teacher Association to adopt appropriate resolutions petitioning the legislature of the state of Louisiana at its next session, whether special or regular, to pass appropriate legislation prohibiting the running at large of livestock on the public highways of the state of Louisiana.

Resolved that if and when the money is received from the federal aid bill that that portion which is dedicated for teachers salaries be used for the extention upward of the existing salary schedule.

The Twin -City. T. A. Council also reaffirmed its stand on the following two issues that were passed at the last state P. T. A. convention—this year being the legislative year is the time to act on these bills:

We shall concentrate our efforts on a bill to amend the Constitution to set up the office of the superintendent of education as an appointment by the state board of edcation rather than by public election as is presently the case. The state board of education would assume the responsibility of hiring for us a qualified school administrator to manage and direct our system. The state board of education would be responsible, before the public, for a considered choice. The superintendent of education can then keep his mind on educational matters rather than his responsibility to the politicians whose support he will need for re-election from time to time. The P. T. A. thinks the schools—and the superintendents—are victims of a political situation that can and should be corrected.

The Parent-Teacher members are concerned with the method of distributing school money in Louisiana because our present method is inadequate. The present method of educational planning, using the per educable or school census for distributing school money, does not guarantee a minimum program of education for every child in La.—22 percent of the children of educable age in Louisiana receive no benefit from the money paid for their schooling. The P. T. A. favors a change in Louisiana to average daily attendance method of distribution of state school money. According to this method, the money would be distributed to the school boards for the children actually attending school.

Latvian Amazed By Number Of Autos In This Country

Elder Alexandria Eglet from Latvia, a retired minister of thirty-nine years experience will be guest speaker at the Seventh-day Adventist Church, South Second and Plum, Sunday night, March 5, at 7:30. Westermyer of Little Rock will interpret. Everyone is invited.

They are amazed to see so many automobiles. In Europe only the rich can afford one.

Mr. Eglet spent eleven years of his ministry in Russia. During World War I, he was in military service in the Russian Army and there lost his left arm. Afterbeing wounded, he was permitted to take charge of three churches in St. Petersburg, now Stalingrad. He also was there during the Russian Revolution.

During the last eight xears, he was pastor of a Hamburg, German Church, and in addition to this pastoral work he served as chaplin of a displacement camp near Hamburg for the last four years.

FARM DAMAGE IS SET AT $300'000

275,000 Acres In Catahoula Parish Estimated To Be Inundated

JONESVILLE, La., Mar. 4. —(Special)—Farm families of Catahoula have already suffered damages estimated at more than $300,000 because of flood waters. E. E. Johnson, parish farm agent, set the estimate at $276,000 in loss of winter crops and $30,000 in loss of hogs.

Johnson estimated that 275,000 acres over the parish have been flooded affecting 75 percent or more of the farms. In the parish, there are a total of 1,051 farms and 786 are covered completely or in part by the waters.

Some of the farms, he explained, have on them more than one family. He said that 1,496 families are affected to some extent by the water, and that at least 550 of them have moved from their homes.

Winter crop losses were estimated as follows: winter legumes for soil building, $126,000 acres, $126,000; Singletary peas seed crop, 1,000 acres, $50,000; pastures, 5,000 acres, $10 per acre to reseed, $50,000; oats, 2,500 acres, $50,000 loss.

Johnson estimated that 3,500 hogs, principally range stock, have been drowned. Taking an average worth of "about $10", he said, this loss amounts to $3,000.

Some cows and other stock have been lost, he said, but not to any great extent.

In the emergency vaccination program being sponsored by the livestock sanitary board, more than 6,000 head of cattle, horses, mules, hogs and dogs have been vaccinated in Catahoula within the past 10 days.

Other relief operations settled down to more or less routine this past week. The Red Cross reported that to date, it has assisted 750 Catahoula families at a cost of $11,524 for individual assistance, and an additional $1,285 for mass care by building privies, furnishing water, etc.

Red Cross offices are now at Jonesville and Harrisonburg, and workers will go on specified days to Jena and Rhinehart to handle requests of tenders.

Busses were forced to stop their run through Jonesville on Tuesday, when water on both sides of the town, on US 84, became too deep for them to travel through. Mail service is still regular, but slowed up. A "duck" of the National Guard is now meeting the mail truck on the other side of the water near Whitehall, and carrying mail to Jonesville and Ferriday, and return.

A shuttle system to handle merchandise consigned to Jonesville merchants is to be set up by the National Guard. Freight is being handled by the Louisiana Midland rialroad.

With most of the families evacuated from the heavily flooded area, eleven trucks and one duck were sent back to Camp Beauregard on Wednesday. At the same time, 15 men from Jonesville, eight from Ferriday and eight from Harrisonburg were sent back to Beauregard.

A water truck, borrowed by the Red Cross from a motor pool at Camp Polk is hauling water from Harrisonburg to Nebo each day. Tenters along the way meet the truck and fill their jugs, buckets pots and pans.

A state department of health entomologist was in the parish Wednesday to identify mosquitoes present and to plan a control campaign. Some malaria-carrying mosquitoes were found, and tenters were warned by Dr. J. A. Coleman to hand spray with DDT until a wider spray program could be set up.

Dr. Coleman also warned that some typhoid carriers are in the parish, and asked cooperation of tenters in sanitation measures. Immunizations for typhoid and other diseases are being given by the health unit.

The Coast Guard this week moved one of its pontoon cattle barges to Harrisonburg to evacuate livestock in that area. The special communications truck was moved to Ferriday because of high water over the road, but contact with it is maintained by portable radios.

Tuesday night's rain of 3.58 inches in Jonesville put much water inside the ring levee, but pumps were on hand to take care of it.

FAIRBANKS HAS P.-T.A. PARTY

Celebrates 53rd Anniversary Of Founding Of This Organization

The Fairbanks P. T. A. celebrated the fifty-third anniversary of the National Congress of parents and teachers at their regular meeting. Mrs. Spurgeon Welch read an article from the state bulletin on Founders Day. The main talk was given by Mrs. Fred Peters.

Mrs. Peters said in part: "We are today celebrating, as thousands of other P. T. A.'s throughout the nation are doing, Founders Day. The Parent - Teacher movement was the dream of Mrs. Alice McClellan Birney of Georgia, a rather frail young mother living then (1895) in the Nation's capital. Mrs. Birney met Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst in 1895 and discussed with her the plans she had in mind for a nation-wide organization of mothers. Mrs. Birney pointed out to Mrs. Hearst that the belief that a child's education demands the cooperation of school and home was more than an idea, it was a basic fact and that such a principle was in turn based on the proper education of mothers of parents.

"Thus the foundation of the organization, knowr for years as the National Congress of Mothers was laid. The year 1897 saw 2000 members of this organization, from every state in the union. Today members in the United States and its possessions."

During the business session Mrs. Lloyd Gill was named as chairman of the nominating committee—others named to this committee were Mrs. B. Barker and Mrs. Johnnie Moore. Mrs. Borden Bradley outlined plans for a style show, a Negro wedding and a cake walk, as means for raising funds.

The president, Mrs. Spurgeon Welch, and Mrs. Johnnie Moore were named as delegates to the spring district meeting to be held at Farmerville March 8.

All members were asked to give 25 cents toward the national headquarters building fund. The hospitality committee served Coca-Cola and cake during the social hour. The cake was a regular birthday cake decorated in the blue and gold colors of the P. T. A.

Curtain Call

Out of the maelstrom of critical review stirred by the entirely new and different stage play "The Glass Menagerie", written by Tennessee Williams, the most informative, didactically speaking scored it as "A successful violation of Broadway convention for it has no plot in the traditional sense; it is a mood play, a poetic comedy-drama". Another describes it thus, "The mother's characterization is both appalling and human, cold and loving".

When this play opens on the Monroe Little Theatre stage, Tuesday night, March 1, it will be presented by a veteran cast who's feeling and interpretation should give you something to talk about in the months to come. Beth Breese, who's thespian ability has been proven more than once, will create the role of Amanda, the mother, Jim Reynolds from the cast of "John Loves Mary" and "Angel Street" is playing the role of Tom, upon who's moody, poetic presence the play revolves. Director Stocker Fontelieu will be the gentlemen caller who gives you the earth bound feeling of counter balance in stark realism toward the others. Fleta Latham has the sensitive, shy and touching role of Laura, sister and daughter.

For The Record—Turn about is fair play, or so we have heard. This coming Friday night will find about three car loads of Monroeites motoring to Rayville for their stage production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Pirates of Penzance", light and lyrical in the world of entertainment. The Rayvilleites payed Little Theatre a special visit for the production of 'Angel Street" and we have just been itching to return the social call, so this is it. Dorothy and Fred Elmendorf, Jean Sholars Boyce, Letha Gregory, Mary Long, Sue Williams, Mrs. John Sholars and Mrs. Estelle Sanders are just a few whom we can name off hand, who will be going over for the good neighbor visit and a pleasant evening—Perhaps, this could be classed coincidence, but in the play "The Glass Menagerie" the gentleman caller played by Stocker Fontelieu has a scene where he sings a couple of lines from "The Pirates of Penzance"—We reported about director Fontelieu's spending his spare time participating in still more drama and theatre, while privately coaching four boys from O. P. H. S. for a one act play. The play is called "Minor Miracle" and was written by Verne Powers of the Southwestern Louisiana Institute faculty and was first presented there. The all male cast is made up of Billy Smith, Gene Lambert, Jimmie Smith and Wayne McCarty. The story is about four men at the mercy of the sea and the elements, adrift in a life raft sixteen days after their merchant marine vessel is wrecked—Bert Bernheim, who left our midst a few weeks ago to study television in the east, changed his course more ways than one. We understand that he has entered a special school in Oklahoma before going to New York and that above and beyond this, he is engaged to be married. Our source of information says the bride to be is not a Monroe girl.

For Dollars and Fund—The AM VETS will sponsor a gala, big amateur show at the Neville High School auditorium on Saturday March 18. Two big shows and each one entirely different, the matinee performance opens at 1:30 p.m. with the curtain going up at 2 p.m., the evening show opens at 7:30 p.m. and curtain time at 8 p.m. For all you talented people in the twin cities, there are three grand prizes to compete for. The first prize in each performance will be twenty-five dollars, second prize fifteen dollars and third prize ten dollars. This show is planned of, for and by the citizens of Ouachita Parish, so if you are over one and under a hundred there is place on the show for you and cash in your pocket if you give out with the best. The News Star-World carrier organization will attend the night performance as special guest of the show.

Daniel Sylvester Having Birthday

Daniel Sylvester Johnston breezed into the News-Star-World office Saturday.

"Do you know I was born over in Mississippi in 1870 and Sunday, March 5, is my birthday? While born in Mississippi I have been a citizen of Louisiana 74 years.

"I live out on the Prarie road and my wife is 67 but like myself strong and husky.

"Why, a year ago I hustled almost two miles in only 18 minutes and my son said that many a young man couldn't beat that record.

"I have a son Ernest, who is 45 years old. He's well and happy, too. And I'm mighty thankful I'm as well as I am at my age today.

"Please say something nice about me in the Sunday World."

CURB "MARKET" GETS JOBS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — There is an unusual "curb market" here — for humans. No one seems to know how it got started but each morning, at one street corner, a large number of workmen assemble, carrying their lunch boxes. They seem all ready for a day's work, but they just stand waiting.

Then a truck will pull up, the driver will shout a couple words and a number, and some of the waiting men will scramble aboard the vehicle. This is repeated by other trucks until perhaps a major portion of the men is gone. The corner is the market for a fair amount of Jacksonville's unskilled labor.

If construction business is not so good, there may be few trucks of a morning. The men usually hang around the corner until about midmorning. If no job shows up, they go home.

RUINS ON ONE SITE

MALINES, Belgium—(AP)—Workmen clearing away the ruins left by a wartime V-1 bomb have unearthed the remains of four churches all built on the same site. The discovery was made in what is left of Saint-Lambert church, Muizen-lez-Malines.

The first church was built on piles and dates from the 8th Century. The second seems to be of Carolingian orgin and must have been erected about the middle of the 11th Century. The third shows Gothic characteristics with an extension dating from 1772. The fourth was the former Saint-Lambert church.

Several tombs containing skeletons were also unearthed.

Utah Woman Fatally Shot By Taxi Driver

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 4. —(AP)— Mrs. Rosa F. Rice, 28, formerly of Park City, Utah, was shot to death about 4 a.m. today as she crossed an Albuquerque street.

Police Chief Paul Shaver said Berkley M. Turner, 26, Albuquerque cab driver, signed a statement that he shot the mother of two children because she threatened to call police if he did not end his attentions toward her.

After the shooting, a man identified as Turner called police and said, "Send the police. I just shot a woman."

She apparently was shot twice as she walked from a parked car to a service station, and five more slugs were pumped at her as she screamed and fell to the pavement.

She was the former Rosa Frances Peirce, married to M.-Sgt. Robert L. Rice, 30, of Weippe, Idaho. He is stationed at Sandia Base here.

The children are by a former marriage.

The Nation Today

JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, March 4. —(AP)— It was an amazing Friday. In the morning, no end to the coal strike in sight. By evening, all but over.

In one day John L. Lewis and the mine owners accomplished more than in all the months since last May, when they started their haggling.

Why? You can guess: the failure of the Taft-Hartley act and the gimmicks in the president's message yesterday probably turned the trick.

Since last May, by working only three days a week and then by striking, the miners had been cutting down the nation's coal supply.

The more that supply sinks and the greater the national crisis, the better the position of the miners in getting the owners to meet their demands.

That's because, in crisis, there's tremendous public pressure for a settlement, not only on the miners but on the owners as well.

That's true up to a point. The point is the Taft-Hartley act. Under that, in time of crisis, the government can ask a court to order the strike's end.

Under that procedure, if the workers disobey, the judge can wreck the union by fining it hugely for contempt—if there is evidence to show the union kept the workers away.

In this case the government got the court order. But the miners, taking a fierce gamble on the future of their union, disobeyed.

(If they had obeyed and begun mining new supplies of coal, all their sacrifice of millions of dollars in lost pay up to now would have been wasted. Their strike would be smashed.)

The miners won their gamble. The judge said there was no evidence that the union kept the men away.

That was a great victory for Lewis' men and a blow to the mine owners' hope of winning. It must have weakened the owners' desire to continue the fight whose end no one could foresee.

The owners already had lost millions of dollars by the shutdown. And, if the miners wouldn't return under a court order, there was no assurance they'd ever return, no matter what the government tried, unless the owners met their terms.

There might, though, be one hope: if the government seized the mines. Then a strike would be a strike against the government.

If the miners continued the strike under those circumstances, the public pressure no longer would be applied equally to owners and miners but would be concentrated on the miners.

It would be doubly nice for the owners if the miners went to work for the government at their old pay, and got no higher pay, while the owners ran their own mines and kept all their profits.

Then around noon Friday President Truman prepared a message to congress asking for power to seize the mines. He did more than that.

He asked for power to set up two boards—one to decide what was a fair wage for the miners and the other to decide what was a fair profit for the owners.

Suppose congress okayed that. Then if the miners went back to work and the board decided their old pay was right and their demands on the owners were unjustified, the miners would be in a sorry position. But—

If, while the owners' coal was being dug up, the board decided the owners' profits were too high and the miners therefore were entitled to higher pay, the owners would be in a sorry fix.

The President's message went to congress early in the afternoon and soon word began to leak out that after all these months the miners and owners were reaching a settlement.

At that time both sides were facing an unknown future and the loss of more millions of dollars if the strike continued.

There's one other factor in here, and it seems a powerful one, which must have been working to get some of the owners to give in.

It's this: some of the shut-down mines were owned by steel mills which themselves faced a shutdown unless they got coal. The probably had enough of the strike.

DeWitt Mackenzie:

Mackenzie's Column

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Reminiscence Saturday again and your columnist has been ruminating over strange strange battles he encountered in two wars.

What set me thinking along this line was the recent American and Canadian joint army-airforce maneuvers in Alaska's currently frozen wastes, where the boys had to evict an invading enemy. They were operating with skis, snowshoes and sledges in temperatures of 20 to 60 degrees below zero, and when it's that cold it is easy to get frost bites, as some of the gallant troops found out.

The story I have in mind is about a unique and awful conflict under conditions exactly the reverse of those in ice-bound Alaska. That was the battle of Romani on the blazing Sinai desert just east of the Suez Canal in August of 1916. And if you find this a twice told tale, you can skip it.

At that time the Suez Canal, Britain's lifeline to the Far East, was being guarded with utmost caution by General Sir Archibald Murray, commander in chief for the near East, at whose headquarters I spent some time. East of the canal lay the Sinai desert hell which formed a natural barrier against a Turkish advance across the peninsula. At least most military men thought the desert was impassable to an army.

However, General Murray didn't subscribe to this belief. He held with Napoleon's prediction that someday somebody was going to put an army across that desert.

So Murray established a defensive force including a contingent of the famous Anzac horsemen, among the dunes of the desert to the east of the canal. There the men lived and labored in the deep, drifting sand, under a sun which at noontime produced a soil temperature of some 175 degrees—and, ladies and gentlemen, that is mighty hot.

Well, sure enough one day a Turkish and Arab army, partly officered by Germans and Austrians, suddenly appeared from the East and flung itself—including a camel corps—against the British defenses. This assault was accompanied by the unbelievable circumstance of a Turkish artillery bombardment. How the deuce could heavy guns be brought across the desert!?

The Turks struck among the dunes with the fierceness and courage for which they are famous. British machineguns atop the dunes swept the enemy advance with death. Anzac horsemen in some places literally jumped their mounts down on the attackers.

The battle raged on into the white heat of the day. Wounded Turks and Arabs cooked to death on the blazing sands under that terrific sun. Others ran out of drinking water and perished from thirst.

Human flesh could stand only so much. After twenty hours the Turks gave up and the British interned close to 9,000 prisoners. The rest of the invading army lay among the dunes.

I have seen some weird and fearful battle fields, but never anything like Romani. A host of dead in native garb lay close together over the shifting sands—roasting in this devil's oven formed by the dunes. Interspersed were camels and donkeys. Empty water bottles told their own grim story.

With the battle over the British set about to solve the mystery of that artillery, and I was there when the puzzle finally was exposed to an amazed general staff. Here is what happened:

There grows on the Sinai peninsula a shrub which is tough and very wiry. That was the key to the trick—for trick it was.

The Turks, perhaps at the instigation of German engineers, dug little parallel trenches just far enough apart so that the wheels of a gun carriage would fit into them. These trenches were filled with the spring-like shrubs which formed a perfect track along which the guns ran well.

It was one of the smartest bits of engineering in the war.

GRAVEL COMING DOWN

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Miss Helen Taylor combed the gravel out of her hair and told police this tale.

Walking along a sidewalk she saw an uphill-bound truck roll backward when the driver, Henry G. Mihalovich missed his shift. Gathering monentum the 13-ton gravel carrier careened toward her, snapping off a telephone pole and chunching a lamp post before it slammed into a building beside her.

Miss Taylor, pinned to the wall by a protruding part of the truck, was showered with gravel. She was not injured seriously.

WORLD'S LATEST MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 4—(AP)—The stock market plowed through heavy profit-taking sales today for gains of fractions to around a point.

It was the market's first response to news of the surprise settlement of the coal strike.

Buying started off with a rush, particularly in the steel, automotive and railroad groups. Profit-taking quickly developed and in some cases was persistent enough to chip away some of the largest gains.

Trading hit a fast clip throughout the two-hour session, with turnover at a rate approaching 1,000,000 shares.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 4—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced in the early trading here today, but later reacted sharply downward under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady, 50 cents to $1.20 a bale lower.

Some of the selling was attributed to continued unfavorable reports from textile centers. The early demand which put July and October contracts to new seasonal highs, resulted from trade buying to fix prices and favorable coal strike news.

Spot cotton dropped $1.75 a bale with middling 15-16 inch quoted at 31.80 cents a pound. Sales here amounted to 2,963 bales.

New York

NEW YORK, March 4 — (AP) — Cotton futures closed weak today. Final prices were at the lowest levels of the session. A wave of general selling was attracted in the final minutes of dealings. Most of the selling was believed to be profit taking attracted by recent sharp advance. The May 1950 delivery was the weakest.

Futures closed 25 to $1.85 a bale lower than the previous close.

DP LEGISLATION MEETS TROUBLE

Senate Ponders Whether To Admit More Refugees In U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(AP)—displaced persons legislation encountered more rough going in the senate today as opponents of a liberalized program hammered at administration of the present law.

Senator Jenner (R.-Ind.) charged that the displaced persons commission was guilty of "moral deceit." Senator Eastland (D.-M.) accused commission members in Europe of "morally betraying" this country.

Alex E. Squadrilli, European coordinator of the D. P. program, in a lengthy statement denied charges tht there had been lax administration, inadequate screening and wholesale fraud in the war refugee program.

Squadrilli contended all government agencies concerned with the admission of D. P.'s in the U. S. "are cooperating closely and successfully."

In the senate debate, Senator Jenner protested that many displaced persons who had made money in the black market had been admitted here.

"Some of the D. P.'s have plenty of money," Jenner said. "It is green money in fifty and hundred dollar bills of series B, issued in New York."

The house has passed a bill to let in more war refugees. The senate is considering whether to amend it.

CANE PLANTERS WARNED OF BORE

Heaviest Infestation In U. S. History Is Seen Possible

BATON ROUGE, La., March 4.—(AP)— Louisiana sugar cane planters were warned today they may be facing one of the heaviest infestations of cane borers in the state's history.

The warning was sounded by State Commissioner of Agriculture E. W. Anderson after a conference with Director William G. Taggert and C. E. Smith of the Louisiana agricultural experiment stations.

They said a survey shows borers have multiplied during two mild winters and remained active during the harvest season over most of the cane belt. Standing cane was found damaged as late as December, they said, and last year's loss was estimated at about $8,000,000.

Cane growers were advised to begin shaving cane and wrapping the shaved-off material immediately. This will cut down borer population enough to make poison dusting effective later, they said.

Farmers also were warned to isolate corn areas as much as possible from borer-infested cane fields because the pes. multiplies faster in corn and moves to nearby cane.

Smith estimated that as much as 50,000 of Louisiana'a 300,000 cane acres may require dusting.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

HI, SPRAY, HONEY! HOWZA BRIDE-TO-BE..?

WELL! IT'S ABOUT TIME YOU JOKERS TURNED UP. I'VE BEEN FLIPPING MY LID WITH WORRY!

WHAT GIVES, BABY? AFRAID OL' HOTSHOT WAS PLANNING TO LEAVE YOU AT THE CHURCH?

NO JOKE, SON. ALEXIS HAS DISAPPEARED! SHE DIDN'T SAY ANYTHING. I DIDN'T EVEN KNOW SHE WAS GONE. SHE'S BEEN GONE FOR HOURS...

ALEXIS GONE? WHAT? HOW?

I DON'T KNOW. CHOPS AND THE CHUMS CALLED. CHUM, SENIOR, BROUGHT ME A WEDDING GIFT. I WANTED TO SHOW IT TO HER—AND SHE WASN'T HERE!

OOOH! TERRY! AS GENUINE STERLING BONEHEADS WE RATE!

CHECK! THAT'S WHAT ALEXIS WAS WAITING FOR— AND SHE'S WRAPPED IT UP RIGHT UNDER OUR NOSES!

MEANWHILE, AT THE HOUSE WHERE CHOPS AND CHUM FUN HAD KEPT THE OLD MAN UNDER COVER.

YOUR LOCAL MEMBERS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC, COMRADE. THE FAT ONE IS MOST UNCONSCIOUS.

YOUR TRICK WAS WORTHY OF AN AGENT OF THE INNER POLITICAL GROUP OF OUR TOTALITARIAN PARTY. HIS SUSPICIONS WERE LULLED.

THROUGH DOORS, VOICES SOUND ALIKE. I MERELY USED THE NAME OF "SPRAY O'HARA", A STUPID WOMAN HE IS FOND OF.

HIS DENTED SKULL IS SMALL PAYMENT FOR THE TROUBLE IT WAS TO TRAIL HIM TO THIS PLACE— AND THE OLD ONE.

HERE IS THE ONE WE SEEK, BUT THERE IS NO TRACE OF HIS SON.

THE BRAT LIKELY PROWLS THE ALLEYS... NO MATTER. WE HAVE OUR PRISONER. LET US BE GONE, QUICK!

SO THE RADIO GUY DENIES HE SAW WORMY OR EVEN KNEW HIS ICEBOAT WAS MISSING. DO YOU BELIEVE HIM, TRACY?

WE HAVE TO, SAM.

THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE TO THE CONTRARY— AND TED TELLUM IS A WELL-KNOWN RADIO PERSONALITY WITH A REPUTATION.

TESS LISTENS TO HIM. I'VE HEARD HER MENTION HIM.

I SAID LET 'EM OUT. THE DETECTIVES HAVE GONE.

OKAY! OKAY!

IF YOU'D DONE ONE THING OR SAID ONE WORD TO GIVE ME AWAY. I'D HAVE CROAKED YOUR PARTNER.

FORGET THAT STUFF. YOU'RE NOT IN DANGER HERE! I NEED YOU.

I'M GOING TO BE FRANK WITH YOU, WORMY—YOU'VE GOT A HIDEOUS FACE BUT THE MOST BEAUTIFUL VOICE I EVER HEARD.

MY DAYTIME PROGRAM IS SLIPPING. MY HOOPER, AMONG WOMEN, IS SO LOW IT'S GOT HOT LAVA ON IT.

YOU CAN "HIDE OUT" HERE, OR STAY HERE—OR WHATEVER YOU WANT TO CALL IT— IF YOU'LL JUST READ A TEN MINUTE SCRIPT EVERY DAY OVER MY PROGRAM.

FELLOWS, LET'S SHAKE! NONE OF THE EXECUTIVES NOR ANYONE ELSE IS TO KNOW ABOUT THIS MAN. HE'S OUR TOP SECRET.

HERE, READ THIS OVER THAT MIKE FOR ME. IT WON'T CARRY OUTSIDE. THAT'S JUST A MIKE AND A SPEAKER.

YEAH? -BUT IF YOU'RE KIDDIN' ME—

I KNEW I'D FIND YOU, MY BELOVED! I CAME TO TELL YOU I STILL LOVE YOU, LOVE YOU—LOVE YOU!

WHAT A VOICE!

YOU ARE GOING TO PROVE A THEORY I HAVE ALWAYS HELD— THAT EACH OF US IS HERE FOR A GREAT PURPOSE! YOURS IS TO BRING LOVE AND ROMANCE TO THE WOMEN OF AMERICA VIA RADIO!

FROM NOW ON, TEN MINUTES OF MY RADIO TIME WILL BE TURNED OVER TO "THE-VOICE-WITH-THE-KISS"!

THIS HAD BETTER BE ON THE LEVEL.

TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

SWIMMING ALONG THE FLOOR OF THE LAKE, HE FOUND A MASS OF KEGS AND CHESTS. KNIFE WOUNDS IN THE BODY OF A NATIVE SECURED TO A CHEST TOLD HIM THAT HERE WAS THE "CREATURE" THAT HAD ATTACKED RUNDI. INSTANTLY HE UNDERSTOOD. CLEVELAND'S DIVER HAD DISCOVERED THE DAGOMBA TREASURE. TO PREVENT RUNDI FROM EXPOSING THE DISCOVERY, THE MAN HAD TRIED TO DROWN HIM.

TARZAN SLASHED THE RESTRAINING BONDS AND SHOT UPWARD WITH THE BODY.

WADING ASHORE, THE NATIVES STARED CURIOUSLY. "DOC!" BAKER MUTTERED. "I DON'T SEE THE SNAKE SIGN! GET SET FOR TROUBLE!"

by MAC RABOY and DON MOORE ®

RESTORING PEACE AND ORDER, FLASH LEADS THE FREED TROPICANS IN ROUNDING UP THE TERROSAURS THAT ESCAPED FROM THE ZOO.

"YOUR FLYING NETS WILL SOON TRAP THE LAST OF THE WHIP-HAWKS, JON," SAYS FLASH. "THAT'S A CLEVER DEVICE YOU THOUGHT OF."

THE REBEL GUARDS HAVE FLED OR SURRENDERED. AS FLASH RELAXES, HE DISCUSSES HIS PLANS: "NIMRO, WILL YOU BE REGENT TILL TROPIX CAN HAVE AN ELECTION? I HAVE A SURRISE FOR A BRAVE YOUNG MAN WE KNOW."

THE TROPICANS REJOICE AND A CERTAIN MOTHER NEARLY BURSTS WITH PRIDE AS FLASH ANNOUNCES: "AS THE RULER OF THE PLANET MONGO, I NAME THEE PRINCE JON OF TROPIX."

A WARDEN REPORTS: "SIR, EX-QUEEN RUBIA ASKS YOU TO VISIT HER CELL." FLASH IS TOO GALLANT TO REFUSE A FALLEN FOE, THOUGH DALE WARNS: "YOU CAN'T TRUST THAT WOMAN, DEAR."

No Other Dentifrice Offers Proof of Such Results! Proof That Using

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM

HELPS STOP TOOTH DECAY!

2 Years' Research by LEADING UNIVERSITIES Proves That Using Colgate's Right After Eating Helps Stop Tooth Decay Before It Starts!

YES, THE MOST CONCLUSIVE PROOF IN ALL DENTIFRICE RESEARCH ON TOOTH DECAY! Proof based on 2 years' research at leading universities—hundreds of case histories! Conclusive proof that when used right after eating, Colgate's helps stop decay before it starts! Colgate Dental Cream has been proved to contain all the necessary ingredients, including an exclusive patented ingredient, for effective daily dental care.

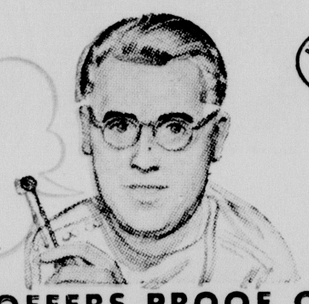

THE TOOTHPASTE YOU USE TO CLEAN YOUR BREATH WHILE YOU CLEAN YOUR TEETH, now offers a safe, proved way to reduce decay! Modern science shows decay is caused by mouth acids which are at their worst right after eating. Brushing teeth with Colgate's as directed, helps remove these acids before they can harm enamel. And Colgate's active penetrating foam gets between teeth where food often lodges.

CHILDREN LOVE COLGATE'S FLAVOR! By the time they enter school, 9 out of 10 children have one or more decayed teeth. Children love Colgate's flavor—so it's easy to start them on the proved Colgate way to reduce decay! No dentifrice can stop all tooth decay, or help cavities already started. But using Colgate's as directed is a safe way to reduce cavities—help stop tooth decay!

Always Use Colgate's To Clean Your Breath While You Clean Your Teeth—and Help Stop Tooth Decay!

NO OTHER DENTIFRICE OFFERS PROOF OF SUCH RESULTS!
